ELEVEN SOUTHERN CITIES INCLUDED UNDER AGREEMENT

Contract Signed by Central Public Service Corporation and Southern Natural Gas Company.

LOCAL FRANCHISE PETITION DROPPED

Officials State Gas Will Be Cheaper and of More Power Than Present Artificial Product.

Atlanta was assured natural gas within the coming nine months at 5:30 o'clock Friday afternoon when a 20-year contract for delivery of the natural gas from Louisiana fields by the Southern Natural Gas Corporation to the Central Public Service Corporation, the Chicago company which recently bought the Georgia Power Company gas properties, was signed after weeks of negotiation.

Natural gas will be piped through the present Atlanta system under terms of the contract, the local company receiving the fuel at the city limits and supplying all users with the new gas instead of the manufactured product now being burned.

Colonel E. H. Peirce, head of the Chicago interests which have purchased gas properties in Georgia, South Carolina, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi in the last few weeks, stated Friday night that he expected natural gas would be available for the Atlanta mains by December.

The contract for the purchase of the natural gas by the Central Public Service Corporation provides for distribution of the product in Atlanta, Rome, Macon and Griffin, as well as in intermediate points along the main line which will be constructed to Georgia from the Louisiana fields. These points include Anniston, Gadsden, Selma, Montgomery and Tusculum, Ala., and Columbus and Meridian, Miss.

20-Year Contract Signed.
Colonel Peirce Friday issued the following statement:

"The Southern Public Service Company, on behalf of Atlanta, has entered into a 20-year contract for purchase of natural gas.

"It is expected that the pipe line connecting the Louisiana gas fields with Atlanta will be completed by December of this year.

"Advent of natural gas in Atlanta will be of importance to every citizen and should greatly increase comfort of living and give an added incentive to its industrial growth.

"The Atlanta gas light company is the oldest institution in this city, organized in 1856. It has had a remarkable history of reliable service and steady growth. With introduction of natural gas, growth of its service will be greatly accelerated.

"There will be many problems to solve and large expenditures of money to enable the citizens of Atlanta to enjoy the use of natural gas, but our faith in the future of Atlanta and of the fine spirit of fairness of its citizens has given us courage to go forward in this great enterprise."

Cheaper Gas Seen.
The British thermal unit, the standard used for gas, is 550 for artificial gas and 1,000 for natural gas, per cubic foot, thus showing that the natural gas to be afforded Atlanta will be cheaper and of more power than artificial gas, it was said by gas officials. A total of 434 miles of large mains will be laid between the fields and Atlanta.

The signing of preliminary papers on the contract was reported early Friday afternoon when the application

RECOVERY IS SEEN FOR COMA VICTIM; GIRL MUCH BETTER

Apparently well on the road to recovery from the fractured skull received 30 days ago when he was struck by a truck, five-year-old Ann Watson late Friday night was reported to be still unconscious, but resting well. Nurses at Georgia Baptist hospital said she appeared to be better than at any time during her month of coma.

U. S. BUILDING SITE BIDS TO BE ASKED

Property Owners Will Be Given Until April 29 To File Papers—$450,000 Appropriation Ready.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
Washington, March 29.—Treasury department officials today announced that bids would be advertised on or about April 3 for a site for the new federal building authorized for Atlanta.

The department, it was stated, will seek a corner lot at or near the Atlanta Terminal station with an area of approximately 105,000 square feet. It is desired that the dimensions of the site be 300x350 feet, although lots approximating this in size will be considered.

Property owners of the section desiring to offer their holdings will be given until April 29 to file formal bids. At that time the various offers will be formally opened and considered before a selection is announced. The advertisement, it was explained, will appear in an Atlanta paper three times a week for a period of approximately three weeks.

In announcing the forthcoming call for bids, treasury officials declined to give any information on the status of negotiations with officials of the Central of Georgia railway, a parcel of whose property adjacent to the terminal had been tentatively agreed on previously. Recently it was indicated that the Georgia railway was considering the purchase of the property, and the advertisement will specify that a site is desired at or near the Atlanta Terminal station, in the same general locality of the Central of Georgia property near Spring street viaduct.

The federal building commission has authorized a fund of $2,100,000 for the new Atlanta structure, including the cost of a site. Of the amount $450,000 already has been actually appropriated by congress for commencement of operations.

While plans for the Atlanta structure naturally will be held in abeyance pending information as to the definite dimensions of the site, officials said that it would be fair to assume from the size of the lot being sought that the building would be monumental in design, rather than a tall narrow structure which would have to be constructed on smaller ground.

Actual drawings will not start until a contract has been signed for purchase of a site.

At the time members of the federal building commission, including Assistant Postmaster-General John H. Bartlett, were so set on placing the structure on property of the Central of Georgia that it was suggested condemnation proceedings might be instituted for its acquisition if necessary. This is still regarded as a possibility, but more remote now, in view of later statements coming from the treasury.

The building, one of the most expensive yet authorized for the south, will house not only postal operations, but general federal activities in the city. On the ground floor will be a parcel post station and post office sub-station, with the upper floors given over to such agencies as the collector of internal revenue for the state. FEDERAL FORCE WALKS INTO TRAP LAID BY REBELS

General Armenta and 300 Men Reported Taken. Main Army Pushes Toward Jimenez.

BY CLARENCE DUBOSE.
Associated Press Correspondent.

Mexico City, March 29.—(AP)—A federal detachment has entered Chihuahua City, but in complete ignorance that it is a rebel stronghold to which the main federal army has been slowly advancing for weeks. Federal General Armenta, according to word received here, has fallen into the trap set for him by Rebel Governor Caraveo and is supposed to have been forced to surrender his 300 followers.

Armenta had led his band on a long and arduous march over the mountains from Sonora to escape the superior forces of Rebel General Manzo. Not knowing that Governor Caraveo had joined the rebel cause, he asked for help and means were sent him to proceed to Chihuahua City and his capture.

Meanwhile the main federal army under General Juan A. Almazan pushed on today beyond Escalon toward Jimenez, which is about 150 miles south of Chihuahua City. Although the rebel strength was reported concentrating at Jimenez, the government was inclined to doubt that they would offer battle there in the flat open country which offers little of strategic value for an effort to check the federal drive.

Expect Real Test.
Federal commanders expected the real test would be at Bachimba pass, 83 kilometers southeast of Chihuahua City. That pass through mountains that rise several thousand feet above the plain has been the scene of many a bloody battle in past revolutions. The railroad, after winding up the mountainside from Santa Rosalia, midway between Jimenez and Bachimba, runs through a narrow gorge with the sides towering 500 feet above the rails.

In previous wars victory almost invariably has been with the defenders of the pass, but bombing planes, which have already rendered good account of themselves, are expected by the federalists to change the situation. The invaders have several airplanes of the most modern type and a large supply of 50-pound bombs imported from the United States. With these weapons they are expected to make the rebel position on the heights overlooking the pass untenable.

Major Maurilio Maxallan arrived here this morning from Lower California to inform the government of the operations of the column of 3,000 troops under General Abelardo Rodriguez, governor of the northern district, which now is advancing on Nogales. The major said that this column was moving in 200 automobile trucks and was accompanied by a squadron of 15 fighting planes commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Augusto Castrejon.

Driver Admits He Struck H. G. Shirley, Who Was Wounded in Abdomen With Ice Pick.

PATIENT "UNRULY," WITNESSES STATE

Hospital Attaches Testify That Shirley Was Using Abusive Language and Was "Uncooperative."

G. T. Gunter, Grady hospital ambulance driver, was summarily dismissed Friday night by unanimous vote of the hospital and charities committee of city council following an admission that he struck H. G. Shirley, 22, a patient.

The vote to dismiss Gunter came on the third ballot and after Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, of the second ward, had delivered a scathing attack on the method used by the attack in "quieting" the patient.

Action of the committee was taken following a lengthy hearing at which nearly half a score of witnesses took the stand. Gunter admitted that he struck Shirley with his open hand "on the left jaw after he persisted in using abusive language and was uncooperative in efforts of attacks of the institution to assist him."

Helmer Reiterates Charge.
Harry Helmer, president and general manager of the Gate City Dairy and Ice Cream Company, reiterated his charges that Gunter struck Shirley and told of a conversation he had with Gunter and Dr. W. R. McGinty, the interne who treated Shirley for the ice-pick wound inflicted in a scuffle with a negro also employed by Helmer. Shirley is a mechanic for the dairy.

It was told that such treatment in some instances was better than medicine. Helmer said, "Shirley told me he was hit twice in the face and that he was knocked unconscious. It was told that disciplining of patients was necessary and common."

Gunter told of the entire transaction, declaring that he heard Shirley shouting all the way down to the nurse's home, about half a block, and describing Shirley's conversation as the most violent he had ever heard.

Sought to Help Patient.
"I struck him after admonishing him to be quiet and help us help him," Gunter said. "He kept on cursing and even when the nurses were attempting to take his history, a routine which we have to go through with, he ended every assertion with an oath. I hit him once with my open hand on the left jaw. His right eye is the one which is injured. I do not know how he got that injury."

"He knocked the nurses' hands off him when they were attempting to help him and was insulting and overbearing."

Recent Killing of Woman, Warrant for Solon and Jones Bill Opposition Prompt Action.

M'BRIDE DECLARES HE IS NOT WORRIED

Five-Dollar Fee to Undercover Man Alleged Direct Cause of Slaying of Illinois Mother.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES.
United News Staff Correspondent.

Washington, March 29.—A series of state legislative moves against prohibition, coincident with the general tightening of enforcement inspired by opening of the Hoover administration and the recent killing of a woman in an Illinois "dry" raid, has centered public interest on prohibition in a dramatic way.

"Wets" are optimistic over the situation, some predicting a general trend is setting in against the prohibition laws, while "drys" analyze them as nothing more than the sporadic efforts since the beginning of prohibition, which they say will come to nothing.

These legislative moves in three politically "dry" midwestern states—Michigan, Illinois and Missouri—and in Wisconsin received particular emphasis at this time, not only because of the drastic Jones law and the general tightening of enforcement, but through the killing of a woman by a state dry agent at Aurora, Ill., contributing to the general public interest in the indictment of Representative M. A. Michaelson, republican, Illinois, for bringing liquor into Florida, and reports that liquor was brought into New York from a recent congressional junket.

Shooting Causes Indignation.
Among legislative moves are these: 1—Repeal of the "life for a pint" law in Michigan.

2—A move for repeal of the state dry law in Illinois.

3—A bill in Missouri for repeal of the most of the state's dry law.

4—A referendum on repeal of the Wisconsin state dry law and 2.75 per cent beer.

The Aurora incident has stirred general indignation, congressional "drys" joining in condemnation of the tactics of the state "dry" agent. Leaders of "wet" and "dry" organizations, however, have refrained from comment.

News of the indictment did not reach the general public until nearly six months later and the announcement was followed immediately by the issuance of the warrant today by United States District Attorney Edwin K. Walker.

The federal attorney's statement says: "January 11, 1929, copy of an indictment against M. A. Michaelson was received here."

"On January 12, 1929, the United States attorney at Jacksonville, Fla., was advised that the defendant was a member of congress and suggested that the matter be sent to Washington."

"On February 6 the United States attorney at Jacksonville directed this office to hold the matter in abeyance until the defendant returned to this jurisdiction."

"On March 28, 1929, a letter was received from the United States attorney at Jacksonville, Fla., requesting that this office proceed with the matter, and in accordance with such instruction, this office took steps in removal proceedings as provided for by law."

"Defendant was entitled to immunity from arrest while attending a session of congress and the matter has not been delayed in this office."

No Communication.
Mr. Johnson said he had no communication with Washington officials on the matter and did not understand the reference in Washington dispatches to the Jacksonville attorney's writing in regard to failure of the Chicago attorney to issue the warrant.

Meanwhile Congressman Michaelson, who voted for the drastic Jones dry law at the last session, was believed to be somewhere in the state, but just where no one knew. Repeated calls to his home brought no answer. His bond was set at $2,000 and it was believed he would surrender within 24 hours. If he does not, it was indicated, a deputy United States marshal will be sent out after him.

Mr. Michaelson, who was first chosen to represent the seventh Illinois district in 1920, received the backing of the Anti-Saloon League for reelection last fall. He had the backing of Mayor Thompson's organization in his first race, having served two years as alderman.

He was born in Norway in 1878 and came to this country at the age of seven, receiving his education in the public schools here.

ANTI-SALOONIST INDORSEMENT DENIED.
Washington, March 29.—(AP)—F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, issued a statement tonight saying Representative Michaelson, of Illinois, had not been endorsed either in the last general election or primary by either the Anti-Saloon League of Illinois or the national organization.

MICHAELSON CASE DELAY IS DENIED BY U. S. ATTORNEY

Chicago Congressman's Case One of 3,000, Official Says—Warrant Is Issued.

Chicago, March 29.—(AP)—A month is not long to delay issuing a warrant for the arrest of a congressman if his case is one of 3,000 on file, the United States district attorney's office declared today in taking action against Representative M. A. Michaelson, of Chicago, charged with dry law violation.

Aroused by the assertion of department of justice officials in Washington that he had delayed arresting the congressman in order not to embarrass him while congress was in session, George E. Q. Johnson, United States district attorney, issued a written statement of explanation.

"Representative Michaelson, it developed, was indicted in Jacksonville, Fla., last October after two trunks he was bringing back from Havana were found in the railroad station leaking. A policeman made the discovery and then turned them over to the federal authorities."

ASKS MORE POWER BE DELEGATED TO FEDERAL RESERVE

Author of Act Creating Bank Aroused by Action of Mitchell in Defying Rate Ruling.

SAYS BANKER MUST LOSE BOARD PLACE

Mitchell Declares National City Owed Obligation of Providing Funds. Is Biggest Lender.

Washington, March 29.—(AP)—Strengthening of the powers of the federal reserve board to insure its control over funds likely to get into the speculative market will be proposed at the approaching extra session of congress.

Senator Glass, democrat, of Virginia, and King, democrat, of Utah, are preparing bills designed to give the board any authority it may find necessary to curb loans for speculative purposes. Neither has completed his proposed legislation.

It is the expressed disposition of congressional leaders to leave the problem of stock market speculation in the hands of the reserve board insofar as it touches on federal reserve funds. Those in congress who are studying the problem believe that neither the board nor congress can directly supervise the stock market.

Chairman Norbeck, of the senate banking committee, is one of those holding to the view that the reserve board must be given a responsibility to supervise use of its money, and he declared he will leave the problem with the board for the present.

Hearings Will Be Held.
While there is little prospect of enactment of any legislation dealing with the credit problem at the extra session, in view of the determination of the approaching session of committees for other legislation than tariff and farm relief, hearings probably will be held by the senate committee.

Senators Glass and King said today they would endeavor to have the committee consider the question at the approaching session. Neither, however, contemplates asking for an investigation of stock market fluctuations of recent months. Each would confine the hearings to a study of the general credit problem and to means of curbing the use of federal funds in speculation.

Considerable interest was shown here today in the declaration of Senator Glass, a former secretary of the treasury, against the action of Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City bank, in making available funds from that institution for the market at the time the interest rate on call loans was boosted this week.

Senator Glass said this was an "insolent" nullification of the reserve board's speculation.

Father Helps Son He Shot Battle Death

W. F. Drake, Under Heavy Guard, in Death-Watch at Bedside.

As Clarence Drake, 21, of 644 Jett street, lay near death at Grady hospital early this morning, his father, W. F. Drake, sat under heavy guard at the bedside of his son whom police say he shot last Wednesday at his home.

The boy was shot in a quarrel, officers say. The victim was taken to the hospital, where it was found that the shot had lodged in the neck, near the spinal cord and the father was taken to headquarters. Thursday, paralysis set in on the youth and Friday, just before he lost consciousness, he sent a note to the father who had shot him extending his forgiveness.

Then late Friday night the paralysis had spread over virtually all the boy's body and he lapsed into delirium calling for his father. The older man was brought to the hospital under heavy guard and as he entered the son's room and heard the delirious cries of the boy he collapsed at the bedside. Doctors held out little hope for the wounded youth's recovery but allowed the elder Drake to sit by the bedside and watch the life ebbing from his son.

PERSONS TO PRESIDE IN CRIMINAL COURT

Flint Circuit Judge Will Help
Clear Up Fulton
Calendar.

Under an amended order of business for next week in Fulton superior court, Judge G. Ogden Persons, of the Flint circuit, will preside in the second division of criminal business, occupying the courtroom of Judge Virgil R. Moore.

Judge Moore is to try undefended divorce cases in the grand jury room, and Judge John D. Humphries will preside in the motion division. No changes have been made in the first and second divisions of civil business and the first division of criminal business presided over this term by Judges G. H. Howard, E. D. Thomas and E. E. Pomeroy, respectively.

Addition of a sixth court next week was brought about by the fact that two important cases, the Alvin E. Merritt case and the Ernest Eich case, are scheduled for the criminal division, and the undefended divorce calendar is scheduled for the civil division, in addition to a large amount of other criminal and civil business which is calling for attention. Merritt is charged with criminal assault, and Eich is charged with wife murder.

Centuries-Old Pageant ITALIAN TOWN ENACTS RELIGIOUS DRAMA Is Good Friday Observance

Grassano, Italy, March 29.—(AP)—A shadow of evening fell today over this little town on the outskirts of Dante's own Florence, an age-old procession, typifying the principal scenes in the passion and death of Christ, wended its way through the narrow streets to the accompaniment of mournful music. Of all the Good Friday commemorations in Italy, this of Grassano is undoubtedly the most picturesque, and more akin in spirit to the Passion plays known to Americans.

The procession, which had its origin centuries ago, aims to reproduce all of the incidents of what Catholics know as "The Way of the Cross," the descent from the Cross on the hill of Golgotha, and the final sepulture. In order to approximate the traditional darkness attendant upon the death of Christ, the participants never get under way until well after twilight, and move along accompanied by torch-bearers.

The gathering today began with the holding of an old-fashioned country fair in the afternoon. Just after twilight the tolling of a bell in a little church high up among the hillside vineyards marked the hour for the beginning of the procession.

Spectacular Procession.

Slowly and solemnly the participants wended their way toward the center of the village. Men dressed as Roman centurions, in long cloaks, imitation breastplates and helmets, led the way on horseback. Then came the village children, little girls in white, little boys in black with white collars, all bearing candles. Next were the married women of the township, clad in mourning, veiled in black.

After them were the parish priests, escorted by members of various Catholic societies, with the Grassano town choir chanting the "Miserere."

Under a black canopy, borne by a dozen men, appeared a figure of the dead Christ, carried shoulder high on a bier. Other townsfolk, mourning matrons, boys singing dirges, and the village band with muted instruments, closed the procession.

After this melancholy parade of Genu Mortis, the farmers of the region literally take their animals, oxen, horses and sheep, to church with them. They march solemnly up the central aisles of the various little chapels, where they and the beasts are solemnly blessed.

Citizens of Town the Actors.

All the parts in the sorrowful pageant are taken by townspeople, as in the Passion Play at Oberammergau, Germany. In olden times, before twentieth century sophistication penetrated even into this hilly retreat, the man cast for the role of Judas had to watch out for himself. So real did the pious play-acting become in the minds of the people that he often had to flee for his life before the showers of sticks and stones hurled by the devout onlookers.

The shoes were removed from all the beasts taking part in the procession, the popular belief being that they must not trample the "holy ground" over which the Savior is passing. The ceremony is witnessed yearly by many members of the large Anglo-American colony in Florence.

NAVAL STATION WORKERS PICKED UP FISH WITH HAND

Norfolk, Va., March 29.—(AP)—Fishing without hook, line or bait in the last three days has supplied the "beach crew" and their friends at the naval air station at Hampton Roads with more croakers than they can eat.

Members of the Beach crew, whose duty it is to bring ashore at the flight landing the seaplanes of the station in the water around them that they were able at times to pick up the fish with their bare hands and throw them ashore.

ALLEN ARRANGES FOR GRAF ZEPPELIN ARRIVAL IN MAY

New York, March 29.—(AP)—Hugh Allen, of the Goodyear Zeppelin Company, of Akron, Ohio, came here today to complete arrangements for the arrival of the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin during the week of May 10.

Two round trips in rapid succession are planned, he said, stops being made at Lakehurst, N. J., and Friedrichshafen only long enough to refuel. Later in the year a three-stop flight around the world is in prospect.

STIMSON BEGINS WORK ON 'I'M ALONE' CASE

New Secretary, However, Refuses To Discuss Matter.

Washington, March 29.—(AP)—Henry L. Stimson, the new secretary of state, announced today at his first conference with press correspondents that he had interested himself in the shaping of an American policy in the "I'm Alone" case. He declined, however, to discuss the subject.

The sinking of the Canadian runner by a coast guard patrol boat was regarded in official circles as perhaps the most troublesome question bequeathed Mr. Stimson by former Secretary Frank B. Kellogg, who today as a private citizen once more turned his thoughts to vacationing at New Orleans and those received from the coast guard through the state department. The legation was awaiting instructions from the Canadian government before pressing the case further.

Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador, who withdrew from active interest in the case on learning that the ship was Canadian registry, also sent the reports to London. The British government still is directly interested since interpretations of the run-smuggling treaty of 1922 between the United States and Great Britain are involved.

The French embassy had not yet received an answer to its request for instructions regarding the drowning of the French seaman attached to the vessel. It was thought possible that the French foreign office would await some representations by the Canadians or British before taking action. The French case was said to depend largely on whether the sinking of the I'm Alone was legal.

LOCATION OF BOAT IS VERIFIED

Charleston, S. C., March 29.—(AP)—The United States coast guard cutter Walcott, now figuring prominently in the controversy over the sinking last Friday of the British schooner I'm Alone, was today verified as being near the Trinity Shoal buoy, near the Trinity Shoal buoy, near the Trinity Shoal buoy, near the Trinity Shoal buoy.

He said he witnessed part of the pursuit near the Trinity Shoals buoy on Wednesday morning of last week. Then, he said, the Walcott was trailing about half a mile after the I'm Alone, which was heading straight to sea on a south southeasterly course with sails set and auxiliary engines going.

The Walcott hailed him, he said, and called on him to verify its position, which was then about five miles to the west of Trinity Shoals buoy. He said that through a megaphone exchange he was told the Walcott had been chasing the I'm Alone for an hour and a half. After verifying its position, he said, it continued the chase.

Assistant Fire Chief Gets Wrenched Back In Crash With Auto

Assistant Fire Chief A. B. Rogers Friday morning received a wrenched back when his automobile collided with a car occupied by two boys at the intersection of Pryor and Glenn street. The chief was en route to a fire at the time of the crash, in which both cars were badly damaged. The boys, who escaped injury, were Willis and C. D. Morgan, of 1159 South Pryor street.

H. A. Nuckolls, 59, of Clarkston, suffered a fractured left leg, collar bone and shoulder Friday morning, when he was struck by a motorcycle at Dekalb avenue and Delta place. He was removed to Grady hospital. It was believed that the motorcycle stopped after the accident, but police did not learn the driver's name.

W. H. Gatlin, 17, of 755 Flat Shoals avenue, suffered severe head injuries and possible internal injuries when the automobile he was driving figured in a three-way crash with a street car and a truck at Hunter and Pryor streets. E. G. Hill, of 906 McMillan street, was the street car motorist. David Branch, negro driver of the truck, was charged with reckless driving.

AUTO AND BUGGY FIGURE IN CRASH AND AUTO LOSES

Atlanta policemen, with a bewildered look in their eyes, Friday night were searching for Atlanta's only hit-and-run buggy driver, following an accident Friday morning at Whitehall and Brotherton streets, in which a car driven by Calvin L. Jones, of a Candler building address, was damaged by a buggy which was driven off after the crash.

According to witnesses a shaft of the carriage was driven through the car's windshield, the flying glass inflicting slight cuts on the face of 9-year-old Marguerite McDonald, who was seated beside Mr. Jones. The buggy disappeared while the accident was being investigated, witnesses told police.

FREIGHT OFFICE BANDIT IS BELIEVED CAPTURED

Horace Reed, negro, of 256 Henry street, was being held on suspicion at police headquarters late Friday night following his arrest late Friday afternoon by Detective John W. Lowe and his subsequent alleged identification as the lone bandit who, early on the night of March 4, robbed the Southern railroad freight office, at Spring and Nelson streets, of $800 after locking the cashier in a vault.

He was arrested on Mitchell street, near Mangum, late in the afternoon, and brought to headquarters, where he refused to make any statement. Hubert Sibley, cashier who was forced into the vault at a point of a pistol, then was summoned to headquarters, where, Detective Lowe said, he positively identified the negro. Detective Lowe late Friday said that the suspect refused to confess even after his identification but added that a confession would be unnecessary. He also stated his belief that he would be able to connect the man under arrest with other robberies. It was said at headquarters that Reed had served sentences for auto theft.

The bandit who robbed Sibley appeared suddenly in the cashier's office at the freight building shortly before 6 o'clock on the night of the fourth, after the other employees had left and Sibley was preparing to lock up. He forced Sibley into a large vault used for storing papers, locked the door and then produced a smaller safe containing the money. Sibley effected his release by summoning aid by shouting.

WORK IS STARTED ON PENSION ROLLS; APPLICATIONS DUE

Columbia, S. C., March 29.—(AP)—Work has been begun on compiling the pension rolls and veterans and widows have until April 1 to place their applications with the probate judges of their counties, according to Comptroller-General A. J. Beattie. The appropriation of $750,000 is the same as last year, though there may be some slight changes in the distribution.

Under an act of the 1929 legislature the rule regarding widows of pensioners was changed. The new rule requires the widow of a veteran to show that she was married to him at least ten years before his death. If she was not living with her husband at the time of his death or during the ten years of their married life she is required to show that the separation was not her fault.

Under this rule, the number of widows of Confederate veterans entitled to pensions will be increased this year, as the number of years of married life is lower than under the old rule. At the same time the increase is somewhat offset by the thinning ranks of those eligible.

SCRUBWOMAN HELD IN ROTHSTEIN CASE

Meanwhile Scores of Others Find Way in and Out of Jail.

New York, March 29.—(AP)—A $40 a month scrubwoman, of the many persons rounded up in the slaying of Arnold Rothstein, notorious Broadway gambler, alone remained in custody today.

Mere chance placed Bridget Farry in the third floor corridor of the Park Central hotel two hours or so before Rothstein was lured to room 349 and shot down on the night of November 4th.

Taken into jail as a material witness she has been held first in jail, then in a hospital and later in an institution, unable to raise the $5,000 bail necessary to obtain her freedom.

Meanwhile scores of others—racketeers, chorus girls, gamblers, bootleggers and gunmen—have found their way both in and out of jail. Some, held merely on suspicion, have been released without legal formality. Others were freed by the courts.

Increase in Federal Tax To Meet Government Cost Predicted by Senator King

Continuance of Existing Conditions May Postpone Move Until 1931. If Slack-Up, Sooner.

BY KENNETH G. CRAWFORD, United News Staff Correspondent, Washington, March 29. (United News.)—A substantial increase in federal tax rates to meet the constantly rising cost of government is inevitable within the next 10 years, Senator King, Democratic, Utah, told the United News today.

If business continues at the present level of prosperity, the increase may be postponed until 1931, he said, but if business should fall off, even slightly, a tax boost would be necessary at the next regular session of congress starting in December.

King pointed to the recent authorizations of congress for Boulder Dam, Mississippi river flood control, the big navy program and expansions of government service such as air mail development as proof of his statement that government expenses will continue to mount.

"We appropriated $4,655,000,000 to meet federal expenses during the coming fiscal year," King said. "Deficiency bills we will pass later will bring this figure to $5,000,000,000 or more. Expenses for 1935 will be $5,000,000,000 more than they were in 1929."

King said he expected the activities of congress during its special farm relief and tariff session starting next month would hasten the fulfillment of his prediction concerning tax increases.

Reduces Revenues. "Raising the tariff will reduce rather than increase revenues from that source," he said. "The rates will be higher but the volume will fall off."

"And farm relief will be another drain on the treasury. The McNary bill, now under consideration, calls for appropriation of $300,000,000, while Senator Brookhart's measure calls for more than $1,000,000,000."

King's opinion that tax increases are unavoidable is shared by many of his democratic colleagues but most republicans profess to harbor no such fears. Administration party leaders say there is no end to the increasing prosperity of business and that this increase will automatically produce the necessary revenues without resort to higher tax rates.

If the democrats are right, the political significance of the forthcoming tax increase hardly can be overestimated, King said, he believed it would sweep the republican party out of power four years from now.

Needed Great Revenue. "Constantly decreasing taxes since the World War, he explained, have been possible because of the enormous revenues necessary to place an American army in the European field."

"Woodrow Wilson recommended a sharp tax decrease in his message of 1919," King said, "but the republicans held back. They have spread the decreases over a long period, playing their cards very cleverly."

The American people have become accustomed to gradually decreasing taxation during the post-war years and a sudden increase may produce a political upheaval in 1933, which will change the administration, King said.

King, because his constant and often single-handed fight against additional government expenditures, has come to be known as the one-man economy party of the senate. He cast

Lady Members Of Congress Choose Black

BY MARTHA DALRYMPLE, Associated Press Staff Writer, Washington, March 29. (AP)—Black seems destined to be the congressional fashion note in the seventy-first congress in which eight women, more than ever before in the history of the country, will occupy seats in the house.

The five women who were members of the seventieth congress wore black frocks most of the time, and the three newcomers have worn the subdued color on practically all public occasions.

A casual glance over the floor of the house in the past has not permitted one to detect any feminine finery, except on the rare days when Mrs. T. Norton, New Jersey, wore her tan tailored frock and white blouse, Katherine Langley, Kentucky, her grass green velvet.

Mrs. Edith N. Rogers, Massachusetts, during the past months, affected black velvet gowns of simple cut, relieved only by a white gardenia or a strand of pearls. Black also is the favorite color of Mrs. Florence Kahn, of California, while Mrs. Pearl P. Oldfield, Arkansas, still in mourning for her husband, whose seat she was elected to fill, always wears an all-black costume.

Speculation is being heard in Washington's feminine circles on the type of clothes Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Illinois, will choose when she takes her place among her many somber-clad colleagues. Her wardrobe includes many frocks of brilliant hue that she has been wearing in the seclusion of her office during the recess. It is generally believed that she will conform to what seems to be the tendency of congresswomen—to make their dress as inconspicuous as possible on the floor.

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, Florida, and Mrs. Ruth Baker Pratt, New York, the other two new members, both wear more black than any other color, and will probably continue to do so.

Passion Play By Penitents In New Mexico

Albuquerque, N. M., March 29. (United News.)—The northern New Mexico mountain country rang today with the cries of the penitents doing their Good Friday penance.

All day devotions culminated at dusk tonight with the procession from the morales—or native praying places—into the hills where one of the members of the sect will be hanged to the cross. The victim, roped on, will remain until he is unconscious.

Naked to the waist, with bare feet, the penitents—enacting the Passion Play in the crude form of the mountains—on their knees, strike their backs with heavy twisted weeds until blood flows. It is the penitent's way of showing he is sorry for his sins—something like the flagellantes of the middle ages.

One of the brothers will drag a heavy timber cross in the procession and when the height of the march of penance has been reached the ceremony of crucifixion will be observed. Great secrecy is thrown about the ceremonies.

The penitents came to New Mexico with the early Spanish settlers, the order being an offshoot of a parent organization that had many followers in Europe in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries. In earlier years the penitents were a strong political, as well as religious, order, but the groups have become smaller and now are numerous only in the northern mountain country.

BRIAND PUSHES KELLOGG TREATY THROUGH SENATE

Paris, March 29. (AP)—Foreign Minister Aristide Briand today, in a half hour taken from the chamber where he had been engaged in discussing the law allowing return of congressmen to France, went to the senate and put through unanimous ratification of the Kellogg-Briand peace pact.

"The pact places all nations on an equal footing," he told the senators. "France has never made a distinction between the rights of powerful or weak nations. The pact is a general mobilization in favor of peace."

TWO HELD FOR MURDER

Indictments Returned by Grand Jury.

Indictments in two negro murder cases were returned Friday by the Fulton grand jury. James Glean, alias James Burton, was charged with the murder of Leslie Lee, also known as Leslie Glean. The true bill alleges that the slaying was done with a shotgun on February 6. Walter Thornton was indicted for the murder of J. D. Maddox, who was killed with a pistol on March 20.

REPEAL OF STATE ANTI- EVOLUTION LAW PETITIONED

Nashville, Tenn., March 29. (AP)—Dr. John R. Neal, chief defense counsel in the Scopes evolution trial at Dayton several years ago, announced tonight that he will ask the Tennessee Teachers' association in convention here tomorrow to petition the general assembly to repeal the state anti-evolution law.

Dr. Neal made public copies of a paper he will present to the association committee on resolutions tomorrow afternoon. The document says "every science teacher in high schools, state colleges and universities of Tennessee is faced by the fearful dilemma of either violating the law or failing to teach the accepted truths of science."

The law, passed in 1925, forbids the teaching of the theory of evolution in any school supported by state funds. At Dr. Neal's request a bill repealing the law was introduced during the present session of the legislature, but was defeated by a unanimous vote of the house of representatives before it had been on the calendar two days.

HAMILTON DENIED BAIL

Defendant Denies Criminal Assault Charge.

J. L. Hamilton, charged with criminal assault and robbery, was denied bail Friday in a hearing before Judge

Edgar E. Pomeroy, of Fulton superior court, of a motion presented by his attorney, Len Guillebeau.

Hamilton was placed under oath and, grilled by the state, denied that he was guilty of the charges against him. His alibi was supported by his mother, who claimed that he was at home on the night of the alleged attack.

Attorney Guillebeau, asked Judge Pomeroy to set a date for Hamilton's trial, stating that the defendant has been ready for trial for some time, but Judge Pomeroy said that the trial date matter will have to be decided at another time.

Bering Strait, where Asia and America nearly meet, recently was spanned by air when an aviator flew from Nome to a vessel lying in the Arctic ocean beyond the north shore of Siberia.

"Less than 300 years ago, Bering Strait had not been crossed by a boat with a civilized navigator in command," says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. "Since then, whalers, Arctic explorers, and adventurers have passed through and across the strait."

Fog Hid America from Early Explorers.

"About 20 years after the Pilgrims landed on Plymouth Rock, two Russian expeditions sailed along the western sea coast but America was hidden in the fog. On a subsequent voyage, in 1741, he saw the continent for the first time. He went back to Siberia. Bering was wrecked on what is now known as Bering Island in the Chukchi Sea. Sailors who reached the island carried the story of this new land to the Russian government. Russian trappers and traders followed the new continent.

respondent said it is iron sand, and the size of a kernel of black tea. Apparently the hair as often as the coppers gray or light colored in any case it is absolutely useless for anything.

Correspondents say that the quantity of coppers is more or to the point of the Russian word, "urdu," which would serve as well, respondent who gave us a piece of black tea, and described the iron and copper as being the same.

respondents say the possibility of copperas—iron ore more than a mile from the coast—would serve as well as the iron ore. The respondent who gave us this opinion also said he believed black tea. "Rumors were current at the Russian station that there was an island in the strait, hidden by the fog that envelops the region, and that America lay to the east. The 'island' proved to be two islands now known as Diomedes. Today one of the islands is known as Russia's island to the United States, for the international boundary line runs between them. They are inhabited by Eskimoes who are said to be Eskimoes who belong to Russia. The islands would belong to Russia if the strait were extended southwestward, missing the tip of the Aleutian chain 150 miles.

Pribilofs Are "Treasure Islands" of Alaska.

"The Commander island only" group on the Russian line is the Pribilofs. The United States acquired the St. Lawrence, the New, Nunivak and the islands when Seward paid $7,000,000 for the famous "purchase," which was called the purchase.

NARCOTIC FARM MAY BE BUILT IN GEORGIA

Two Institutions To Be Erected at Cost Between Seven and Ten Million.

Washington, March 29.—(AP)—Dr. Walter L. Treadway, chief of the narcotic division of the public health service, who will supervise administration of the two narcotic farms provided by the Porter act of the last congress, estimated today that the institutions will cost between seven and ten million dollars.

He said a recent survey showed central West Virginia and northern Colorado to be the eastern and western centers of narcotic law violations, and that consequently the narcotic farms would be located close to these areas.

All Her Friends Marvel at Her Wonderful Improvement After Taking Sargon, She Says.

my friends remark about my wonderful improvement. For fourteen years I have been in declining health and for the past several months misery had settled all over my body due to the poison that was in my system. I suffered from constipation and had a most peculiar kind of strong medicine all the time which kept my stomach so upset that my food would not digest. I actually dreaded to see morning come as I felt like I just couldn't get up and eat breakfast. My appetite was very poor and when I did eat I would have violent pains in my stomach that would cause swimming skin and extreme body aches all over and there was never a day that I didn't have a headache. My liver must have been in bad shape because my skin was off color and I felt tired and sluggish.

"The Sargon treatment has simply done wonders for me, after all other medicines had failed to help me. Right from the first I could see a big change in my condition and everybody wanted to know what I had done to make me look so much better. Sargon soothed my stomach and seemed to be just what I needed to tone up my whole system. I have a splendid appetite and can eat anything I want without the slightest indigestion. My body is free of pains and those dreadful headaches are a thing of the past.

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills started my liver to working until I am throwing off the poisons in my system through perfect elimination. My color is good and that tired feeling has been driven away. I get up in the morning in fine spirits and go about my household cheerfully. Nobody knows how good it seems to feel like myself again.

"I want everybody to know what a wonderful medicine Sargon is and I will never lose an opportunity to praise it to my friends."

Probably one institution will be in the general vicinity of Tennessee, Kentucky, North or South Carolina, or northern Georgia, while the other probably will be in Colorado, Utah western Texas or Arizona.

Confident that the attorney-general and the secretaries of war and the treasury will select sites during this spring or summer, Dr. Treadway believes that the farms may be put into operation by 1932.

Sunny Easter Now Doubtful, Forecast Says

With the weather forecast for today calling for generally unsettled weather accompanied by clouds and possibly occasional showers, the outlook for Atlanta's Easter is not as bright as it might be. C. F. von Hermann recently admitted Friday afternoon. The local bureau chief, however, disclaimed all responsibility for this state of affairs, declaring that if it was in his power to do so, Sunday would be made perfect in every respect. The facts of the case are that Friday morning, will be back up to summary heights today, and there is a good chance for June Pluvius to get the upper hand from time to time. No deluges are expected, but even an occasional shower would be sufficient to dampen the ardor of the long-awaited Easter parade.

The temperature range Friday was from 53 up to 70, bureau records showed, while an increase of approximately eight degrees is expected in these figures for today.

Atlanta Greeks Will Celebrate Freedom's Birth

The Greek community of Atlanta Sunday will observe Greek Independence day with special services to be held in the morning at the Greek orthodox church and public exercises at 7:30 o'clock at night at the Commercial High School auditorium.

On March 25, 1821, the Greeks succeeded in throwing off the Turkish rule and establishing themselves as an independent nation after centuries of Asiatic domination. Since that time Greeks the world over have observed this day in the same spirit that Americans observe the Fourth of July.

In discussing the historic background of the holiday, Professor S. Marcus, well-known local Greek scholar, after describing years of slavery under the Turks, Friday said, "Yet, during these years of bitter slavery, the Greeks, never forgetting their glorious past, clung to their ancient church, with devotion, faith and hope for a better future, and this orthodox church, working secretly among the Greeks, succeeded in maintaining the spirit of ancient glory and freedom."

"At last after long years of slavery, after many unsuccessful attempts for liberty, the fulfillment of time and the most desirable days came. This glorious day was the 25th of March, 1821, the anniversary Sunday, when all Peloponnesus burst into flame and the archbishop of Patras, Germanos, blessed the Greek flag and the insurrection."

"KING WILDCATTER" BACK IN BUSINESS AFTER HUGE SALE

Tulsa, Okla., March 29.—(AP)—T. B. Slick, of Oklahoma City, "The King of Wildcaters," who recently sold his production properties to the Prairie Oil and Gas Company for around $400,000, already is back in the business that brought him wealth.

Plans for three separate oil companies, one each in Texas, Kansas and Oklahoma, with Slick controlling all of them, were made public with the announcement of three purchases of properties by the man who is known as the richest independent oil operator ever in the field.

Among these purchases are the holdings of the Pryor and Lockhart Producing Company in the Valley Center pool in Sedgewick county, Kansas, and an interest in 40,000 acres of wildcat leases, also in Kansas. Both transactions were said to have involved a consideration of approximately $1,000,000.

Slick also announced purchase of the Adelaide Oil Company's producing properties in the Valley Center pool and an interest in a 3,600-acre block of leases southwest of Newton, in Harvey county, Kansas.

EFFIGY BURNED AS GOOD FRIDAY MASS CELEBRATED

Naples, March 29.—(AP)—Fire destroyed the sepulcher effigy representing Christ's tomb in the center of the Basilica of Santa Maria Nova today, just as the priests were preparing to celebrate Good Friday mass.

The blaze appeared to have started either from candles or a from short circuit igniting the black draperies.

Substantial Boost Given Fund to Help Blind Girl

TALLAPOOSA SCHOOL CHILDREN ASSIST

Another substantial boost, this time one of $112, was given the fund for Hazel Hughes' college education Friday when A. M. Smith, of Smith and Guest, 19 Houston, N. E., reported that the total had now reached $879.47.

Letters received from subscribers to the trust fund evidence the hearty interest Georgians are taking in providing for the blind girl's education. One letter, signed by D. W. Windsor, of Tallapoosa, said that the Tallapoosa schools had raised a sum for Hazel, each student being asked to give one penny. "Our pupils were very enthusiastic in the matter. I am sure, if several schools in the state would adopt this plan, they would soon raise the amount required," Mr. Windsor said.

A letter accompanying the recent contribution of Eugene R. Black, governor of the Atlanta Federal Reserve bank, congratulated Mr. Smith as "the good work for this little girl."

A "well wisher" recently wrote that "I was deeply interested in the case of Hazel Hughes as published in The Constitution and rejoice that the matter is receiving attention and enclosure herewith my check for $100."

Hazel's father, Bethel L. Hughes, a county policeman, was killed by an escaped maniac. Through the trust fund, it is hoped to provide the girl who has been blind since birth, with the education her father would have given her, so that she may fulfill her ambition to become a teacher of the blind.

RED CROSS OFFICIAL REPORTS ON FLOOD AREA

Bainbridge, Ga., March 29.—(Special.)—Dr. William De Kline, national Red Cross, of Washington, gave out the following statement today in a meeting with the Bainbridge Red Cross chapter.

"Health conditions are excellent in the entire flood area. There is no evidence of serious illness and we do not anticipate any. The health officers are all on the job and they are doing what they can to prevent typhoid fever and other diseases spread by contaminated water.

"There would be trouble if the public will continue to be careful about using drinking water that they know is safe or otherwise boil it before using. All drinking water that does not come from deep drilled wells should be boiled before using.

"Inoculations against typhoid under present circumstances is very important measure. I cannot emphasize too strongly that everybody should apply to the health department for this treatment. It is offered free of charge. The Red Cross will work with the health officers and give them such assistance as they need. Some of them have asked for a nurse and a sanitary officer. We have sent for the nurse and she will arrive here today. The nurse will help the health officer in giving the typhoid inoculations and will make house visits where the health officer thinks it necessary to help the people in keeping well. The nurse can do a lot of good work in preventing sickness if the people will accept the suggestions that she will make to them. The nurse that is coming will work under the direction of Dr. M. A. Fort in this county and under the health officers in the other counties that she will visit.

"The Red Cross wants to help folks who actually need help and to prevent any unnecessary sickness among the people. Things are looking much better than we anticipated and we are sure everything will be back to normal in a very short time. The spirit of the people here is wonderful, which is a great help in getting back to normal living.

Dr. D. Kline left immediately for Montgomery, Ala.; he was accompanied by Mr. John Clark, in charge of plant and food areas and food distribution; and Wilkinson counties with headquarters in Bainbridge.

St. Luke's Choir Gives Impressive Cantata Service

One of the most perfect examples of that impressive of all musical compositions, the cantata, was given Friday night at St. Luke's church, when the choir of 50 voices, under the direction of Hugh Hodgson, organist and director, presented "The Darkest Hour," by Harold Moore.

This work was new to Atlanta and the interest aroused by announcement of its presentation was shown by a crowd which filled the large chancel to capacity and the many who were, perforce, turned away for lack of room.

Filled with glorious solos and majestic choruses, the cantata typifies the highest form of musical worship. The massed voices of the really magnificent choir swelling in full rounded tones from the nave, reach down into the emotional souls of the listeners and carry the spirit into heights of feeling untouched by other forms of harmony.

The cantata given Friday night is remarkable for the modernity of its structure and for the work of the male choir, in which sets in various capacities in different scenes; at one time as the disciples, at another the mob and at still another the crowd of mourners at the Cross.

"The Darkest Hour" is presented in four scenes, with prolog and epilog. The narrator sings in contralto, while the baritone soloist sings the words of Jesus. Mrs. J. C. Brown sang the narrator part with Harry R. Bates, the baritone, singing the part of Jesus. J. Dan Schenck was the tenor soloist and Mrs. Hugh Hodgson the soprano soloist.

Probably the climax of the cantata is the processional march to Calvary in Scene 3.

Rev. N. H. R. Moor, rector, explained the cantata, with Mr. Hodgson at the organ and Mozelle Horton as pianist.

KENTUCKY RAIDS BRING 70 BEFORE COVINGTON COURT

Covington, Ky., March 29.—(AP)—Seventy prisoners were arraigned in the office of United States Commissioner Edward W. Fluorger here today as the result of 45 raids made last night in Kenton and Campbell counties by 60 federal prohibition agents from Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana and Michigan.

The raids probably the most spectacular and productive in number of arrests ever staged in northern Kentucky, came after undercover agents had conducted a 30-day preliminary campaign to obtain evidence.

All the prisoners were charged with manufacturing, selling and possessing liquor. The commissioner said practically all persons arrested were known as small dealers and little liquor was found.

Agents from Lexington, Louisville, Detroit, Cleveland, Columbus, Indianapolis, Cincinnati and other cities assembled in a fleet of automobiles here last night then separated in different directions. William O. Marx, federal prohibition director for Kentucky and Tennessee, as one of the officials who planned the raids.

RECEIVERS ARE NAMED FOR STURM W. CARSON

Liabilities of $120,000 Covered by Assets of $180,000, Attorney States.

Federal and state court receivers Friday were appointed to administer the affairs of Sturm W. Carson, real estate and investment broker with offices in the Atlanta Trust Company building and his son, William Clifton Carson.

J. W. Mason, a lawyer was appointed to serve as representative of the state courts by Fulton Superior Court Judge Virgil B. Moore while E. G. Gilbert, of Marietta was named federal receiver.

Assets Covered Liabilities. Carson's liabilities will amount to approximately $120,000 but are covered by assets of approximately $180,000, according to Edgar Watkins, of the firm of Watkins, Ashbill & Watkins, attorneys for Carson.

"Most of these assets are in Georgia real estate upon which it was impossible for Mr. Carson to realize quickly," said Mr. Watkins. "If this estate is conserved, a trustee, to be agreed upon later, can work out the problem and all creditors will be paid in full."

Mr. Watkins said that the son, William Clifton Carson, also named in the proceedings, is merely an employee in his father's office and is not involved. Both father and son are in the city subject to the call of their attorney at any time, Mr. Watkins asserted.

Two Bills in Equity. Appointment of Mr. Mason came after two bills in equity were filed against Carson in the name of Margaret Thompson and Lucy Thompson Mason. The bills were filed late Friday afternoon by Attorney Albert E. Mayer. Mr. Mason, who was approved as receiver, said he knew little of the affairs of Carson and would not be able to make a statement concerning them until he had made a complete investigation, which he said he would begin this morning.

Mr. Gilbert was appointed by federal court after Watkins, Ashbill & Watkins, representing Carson, had filed a voluntary petition of bankruptcy and McCreath and Scott, representing a number of creditors had filed claims totaling about $8,000. Thomas Howell Scott, speaking for the creditors, he represents said that the money due them was composed of funds loaned to Carson for investment purposes and not repaid.

CHILD BELIEVED BORN IN ATLANTA FOUND IN MACON

Macon, Ga., March 29.—A baby girl believed to have been born in Atlanta on March 17, was found abandoned on the edge of a sidewalk in Vineville, early this morning.

A. R. Chandler, special agent for the Southern railway, just arriving home from Valdosta, saw the market basket containing the infant, as he was hurrying to his home. Mr. Chandler, who has two children, the youngest 13 years of age, carried the child home.

The infant was neatly dressed and there was a wool shawl over the top of the basket to keep it warm.

On the back of the baby's body was found an adhesive plaster bearing the name of "Baby Williams; born March 17."

The following jury was selected in two hours after case was called: Nate Brown, farmer; Daniel Vassant, farmer; John Vassant, farmer; B. V. Pace, farmer; Lee Smith, farmer; L. Hambrick, parmer; George L. Smith, garage owner; J. O. Connelly, shoe repair shop operator; A. Meadows, farmer; J. H. Abercrombie, farmer; G. W. Tyson, farmer, and W. H. Bobo, a miller.

Most of the witnesses, both for the defense and state, were examined before court adjourned for the day at 5:30 o'clock.

The killing of Stroud occurred when George Collins, his young 16-year-old brother, A. J. Collins, Henry Waits, of Atlanta, and two women, Clara Young and Mrs. Easterling, of Atlanta, were driving along the road about 10 o'clock at night in a 1928 Buick sedan.

It is believed that the case will go to the jury some time tomorrow.

11-YEAR-OLD BOY IS BADLY INJURED BY ACCIDENT SHOT

Lawrence Lathrop, 11-year-old son of Mrs. Whitfield Lathrop, of Route 4, Atlanta, was in a serious condition at Grady hospital late Friday night with bullet wounds in the left hand and leg, received late Friday afternoon when the pistol with which he was playing near his home was accidentally discharged.

Mrs. Lathrop had gone to visit of Atlanta, leaving the boy to play with two younger sisters, it was said.

The child in some way secured an old .38 caliber pistol and was wounded when he discharged the gun. The sisters' screams brought the mother to the scene.

NEW DIRIGIBLE WILL REPLACE DAMAGED BLIMP

Langley Field, Va., March 29.—(AP) The 19th airship company is to have another new non-rigid dirigible within the next few weeks, it was learned here this morning.

Officials were informed that the ship is being assembled at Scott field, Illinois, for use of the Langley Company. In size the new ship is almost identical with the 70-5, and its construction embodies the latest improvements, including an all-metal cabin replacing the present wooden housing on these ships.

This announcement follows news of the wrecking of the last of the company's lighter-than-air ships at Lakehurst late yesterday.

HIGHWAY COMMITTEE APPROVES ROAD BONDS

Macon, Ga., March 29.—(AP)—Approval of a bond issue for paving state highways and for repaving those counties that have advanced funds for that purpose in the past was given today by the statewide highway committee meeting at the Hotel Dempsey.

This group also took measures for active co-operation with other existing agencies interested in paving the highways and will seek to have those agencies open campaign headquarters and conduct a campaign between now and the coming session of the legislature.

Although the gathering did not recommend any particular type of bond issue, the plan of issuing $75,000,000 of bonds to be favored by many present. In such an issue $15,000,000 would be made each year for a period of five years and expended by a bond commission. Of the yearly issue $10,000,000 would be used for construction and $5,000,000 for repayment until the counties had been repaid.

Special committees to co-operate with the highway committee of the County Commissioners' Association and with the Georgia Automobile Association were authorized and will be appointed by Judge Harry Reed, chairman. Judge Reed was named to be chairman of the committee which confers with the county commissioners.

Discussion was entered into by most of the members present and a number of the visitors expressed opinions of the highway question. Among those who spoke were: W. McKeand, Atlanta, executive secretary of the Georgia Automobile Association; Mills B. Lane, Savannah, chairman Citizens' & Southern National bank; Eugene Black, director Federal Reserve bank, Atlanta; Senator Walter F. George, Vienna; Sam Rutherford, Forsyth; Frank Turner, Augusta, president of the County Commissioners' Association.

Palace Built 705 Years Before Christ Is Being Excavated

Chicago, March 29.—(AP)—A palace built 705 years before Christ—the home of the Assyrian king, Sargon, who took the ten tribes of Israel captive—is being excavated by University of Chicago scientists in Egypt.

The announcement was made today by Professor James Henry Breasted, eminent Egyptologist and director of the university's Oriental Institute, on his return from Egypt and Palestine. He was accompanied on the trip by Mr. and Mrs. John A. Dockefeller, Jr., and their children.

The palace of Sargon, who is also famous as the father of Enoch, is expected to yield inscriptions and ruins giving valuable information as to the life and architecture of the period.

SAYS STOCK BURSTS DISTURB BUSINESS

Atterbury, Pennsylvania Rail Head, Deplores Wide Fluctuations in Market.

Washington, March 29.—(AP)—Violent fluctuations in the stock market, such as those of this week, are viewed by W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, as regrettable because of their disturbing effect upon business.

After a call upon President Hoover today Mr. Atterbury said that if sharp turns in the market could be avoided business conditions would be stabilized.

The railroad president said he called at the White House to express his personal appreciation for the things that the president is doing. Later he was a luncheon guest at the White House.

Mr. Atterbury declared he had never seen the country in as good a condition as today and added that without exception industries are operating at 90 to 95 per cent of capacity, not only the large steel companies but independent industries as well. Textiles, he declared, are picking up, particularly in New England. He said that the president's policies had no doubt "made a profound impression upon business interests."

HUGE THEATRICAL MERGER THOUGHT NEAR CONCLUSION

San Francisco, March 29.—(AP)—The Examiner said today that "further progress" in the pending deal between the Radio-Keith-Orpheum interests and the Alexander Pantages theater group has been reported. It was indicated that instead of a purchase of the Pantages interests by a larger chain, the deal would be in the nature of a merger.

Final papers in the transaction have been sent to Alexander Pantages in Los Angeles, and to Morris Goodman, general legal counsel for the Radio-Keith-Orpheum interests who left here Wednesday for New York, the newspaper said.

Under the pending arrangements, it is understood, Pantages will retain an interest in the merged circuits. The Pantages theater in San Francisco will become the Orpheum. The Pantages theater now under construction in Hollywood, will not be included in the merger, but will be run by Pantages, it was reported.

SIMPLICITY TO MARK PRIEST SHOT BY RATE HOOVER EASTER SUNDAY PARENT OF JAILED BOYS

Customary Practices of Church Will Be Observed by President and Wife.

Washington, March 20.—(P)—President Hoover will observe Easter Sunday with all the simplicity associated with his Quaker faith.

Easter morning he and Mrs. Hoover will motor to the Friends Meeting House for services which, following the customary practices of the church, will be without choir or organ. For the remainder of the day Mr. Hoover has made no plans, although he is expected to spend the afternoon and evening resting quietly at the executive mansion. He and Mrs. Hoover may take a short automobile ride in the afternoon, however.

There will be no guests at the White House over the week-end. Secretary Stimson and Hugh Gibson, American ambassador to Belgium, who have been Mr. Hoover's guests, have left.

Following custom, the children of Washington have been invited to assemble in the south grounds of the White House on Easter Monday for their annual egg-rolling. Several thousand youngsters generally are present on this occasion and spend the day playing on the grassy lawn. For a few hours in the afternoon adults are admitted and the Marine band gives a concert.

President Hoover tomorrow will take his first holiday since entering the White House. He will drive 90 miles to his fishing preserve on the Rapidan river in Virginia to spend several hours.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Hoover, the party will include Secretary and Mrs. Whittier and the president's secretary, Lawrence Richey, who represented the chief executive in acquiring the preserve.

Only representatives of the press associations are to be permitted to accompany the chief executive, and they will be left behind when the party leaves for the preserve at Madison Courthouse. Here Mr. Hoover and his group will leave the luxurious White House automobiles and enter on foot for the rougher going through the hills.

MORAVIAN EASTER SERVICE ATTRACTS MANY THOUSANDS

Winston-Salem, N. C., March 20.—(P)—Many visitors from beyond the borders of North Carolina as well as thousands from over the state are expected to attend the Moravian Easter services here Sunday morning. Hundreds of out-of-state visitors are already arriving.

If the weather is propitious Sunday it is believed that 25,000 persons, about the same number estimated to have attended last year, will be present when the services are in their midst shortly after sunrise.

The observance of Easter will start at 2 o'clock Sunday morning when Moravian bands from the several churches of the province, under the direction of R. J. Froh, will make a tour of the city announcing that the glad day has arrived. Every part of the city is visited by the musicians and last year a number of nearby communities were also visited by some of the groups.

Over the brief ritual at the church, led by the venerable Bishop Rohrer, now 81 years old, and who has performed the ceremony for more than half a century, the crowd will move to the Moravian graveyard at sunrise and the services will be concluded there. While the movement of the crowd is under way various bands will be stationed along the avenue and will play antiphonally.

Some 500 men under the leadership of the chief usher, Walter J. Hege, will be in charge of the crowd. In spite of the tremendous throngs which have attended the services in the past years there has never been any disorder.

Named as New Patronage Dispensers

Following announcement by H. G. Hastings, Georgia, Hoover campaign leader in 1928, that the republican party in this state would be rebuilt immediately, The Constitution Friday carried a copyrighted exclusive dispatch from its Washington bureau naming Mr. Hastings, R. J. Quinn and Lindsey Hopkins, shown left to right above, as the executive committee of the new patronage body for Georgia. The appointments were made by party leaders in the capital, it was stated. Members of the new committee, which will have charge of all patronage in this state, Friday were waiting official confirmation of their appointments.

Ancient Flower Wheeze Brought About Divorce

Chicago, March 20.—(P)—The flowers that bloom in the spring, tra la—especially daisies—have caused a divorce. Mrs. Martin told Judge Joseph Sabath on seeking a divorce. Her husband, she said, had a petal-picking complex. Seeing a daisy, he would take it and pull its petals one by one, chanting the old refrain: "She loves me, she loves me not." If the last petal happened to be a "not," Mrs. Martin suffered, she said.

TAFT CENTRAL FIGURE IN FRATERNITY MEET

Washington, March 20.—(P)—Judge William Howard Taft is to be the central figure at the annual convention of the Psi Upsilon fraternity which, it has just been decided, will be held in Washington on May 16, 17 and 18. On the closing day a national luncheon is to be given in honor of the chief justice at the Mayflower hotel.

Among the Psi U's in important public office, who are to be present are Henry L. Stimson, secretary of state; Senators Hiram Bingham, Frederic C. Walcott, George Moses, Guy D. Goff and Frederic M. Sackett, together with a large company of congressmen who are members of the fraternity. The new assistant secretary of the navy for aeronautics, David Ingalls, together with Truman Davis, assistant secretary of war, and William P. McCracken, assistant secretary of aeronautics for the department of commerce, are also to be present.

The convention will be held under the sponsorship of the Eta chapter of Psi Upsilon at Lehigh university. President Edward J. Steward, of the Eta chapter, will preside at the convention, and invitations to attend are being sent to all members of the fraternity throughout the world.

At this convention plans are being formulated for the centenary of Psi Upsilon, which is to be held with the Theta chapter at Union college, Schenectady, N. Y., in 1923.

Greenville, S. C., March 20.—(P)—With operatives and officials each waiting for the other to make the first move, the strike of 1,250 employees of the Brandon Manufacturing corporation, said the operatives had not requested a conference and that the management had taken no steps to get the workers to return to their places.

A committee of 12, representing the strikers, said they had perfected plans for ending the strike Saturday. No definite plan of action for settlement of the strike had been formed, they said. Several members of the committee, however, declared they thought any move toward settlement should come from the management.

The 32,000-spindle mill, which closed down Wednesday, still is idle except for the duck unit, which employs but 125 persons. It is not using the "classification system" and its employees do not strike.

About 400 textile employees of the Pointsett mill, a unit of the Brandon Manufacturing Company, went on strike promptly at 3 o'clock this afternoon in protest against the so-called "stretch out" system.

The Pointsett mill is in the city of Greenville. Rumors that the employees of the Pointsett plant would leave their work spread over Greenville this morning and a crowd estimated at between 4,000 and 5,000 persons had gathered at the plant when the strike was called. Cheers were heard from the crowd as the workers left the plant.

Los Angeles, March 20.—(P)—It was "Hollywood Day" in the courts here yesterday, with notable features and a director figuring in four cases.

William Nigh, director, settled for $5,000 a $20,000 suit brought by Leonard Benedict. Benedict had charged that Nigh, armed and posing as an officer, took him for a drive and "suggested" that he sever his associations with Jean Jarvis, recently actress, greatly humiliating him.

Rita Carewe, Rita Darnell and others of the movie colony testified in municipal court that Ralph Campbell had taken advantage of their acquaintance by burglarizing their homes. He was held for superior court under a $20,000 bond.

Erne Duna, film actress, sued Ben Verschleiser for $51,540, charging that her long, blonde hair, after being cut by Verschleiser, had been turned into a "sloppy, colorless, spotted, streaked, mop-like tchatch."

Sally Shipp, screen star, had Roger Marchetti, an attorney, appointed as her guardian to supervise the spending of her $8,000-a-year salary. She testified she had disagreed with her stepfather about financial affairs.

WATSON GIVES SCOPE OF FARM RELIEF BILL

Washington, March 20.—(P)—An emphatic declaration as to the scope of the new farm relief bill, coupled with an announcement that relief legislation will receive first call at the special session of congress, was made today by Senator Watson, of Indiana, the new republican leader.

This announcement, made during the day while both the senate and house agricultural committees again were in session, received the immediate attention of those interested in farm legislation. This interest was heightened as a number of this group all along have viewed the hearings on the bill as a matter of form and not expected them to be productive of any new ideas.

Senator Watson flatly declared that the new bill would have an equalization feature and that it would be modeled closely along the lines laid down by the republican national convention and by President Hoover in his speeches at West Branch, Iowa, and Elizabethton, Tenn., during the campaign. At that time Mr. Hoover recommended that the federal farm loan stabilization agencies with initial capital of $100,000,000 be authorized to make a loan to any farmer who had a farm of 20 acres or more.

From the first there has been but little belief that the new bill would have an equalization feature. At present the chairman of the senate committee, Mr. Hoover, has not formulated the actual terms of the bill and also to those who argued he might be induced to favor the equalization feature.

$65,000,000 BOND IN INJECTION ANSWERED

South Carolina Highway Commission Files Reply to Farr in Supreme Court.

Columbia, S. C., March 20.—(P)—As an individual citizen and a member of the state highway commission H. C. Summers, of Anderson county, today filed answers in supreme court to injunction proceedings launched by Clarence Richards and J. S. Farr, of Columbia, against the $65,000,000 highway bond issue bill.

Admitting certain allegations in the complaint, Mr. Summers entered an emphatic denial of the allegation that, as a member of the state highway commission he had participated in the alleged fraud of the highway bond issue bill. He requested Governor Richards to issue certificates of indebtedness or notes for highway construction under the terms of the bill adopted at the 1929 session of the general assembly.

The petition states that he is "advised and believes that the act is illegal, null and void." The return of Mr. Summers sets forth that the taxable value of the property of the state gained from the sale of the highway bond issue bill, $425,545,764, and that the total bond issue proposed is in excess of the constitutional limitation of 15 per cent. Attacking the two district plans, the commission avers that the district No. 1 proposed under an alternate plan, the indebtedness would be in excess of 15 mills and also in district No. 2 the indebtedness would be nearer 17 mills.

Claims Set Forth. Specific claims set forth in the return of the complaint are that the petitioners in the original action include: That the law is dependent solely on opinion of the state highway commission.

That the act is a delegation on the part of the general assembly of duties and powers of another branch of the government.

That the act gives the state highway commission power to make or annul a law and to exercise a discretion which belongs to the legislative department. That the act leaves to the discretion of the state highway commission authority to determine whether bonds shall be issued in the name of the state or in the name of the two districts.

That the amount of the debt is left to the discretion of the governor and the state highway department.

That the act will be taking of property of the citizens and taxpayers without due process of law and contrary to the constitution of South Carolina and the United States.

That the provision for sinking fund is contingent and problematical.

That the act increases the permanent indebtedness of cities, counties, highway districts and school districts beyond constitutional limitations.

Attorneys for Mr. Summers are Senator Cole L. Blease, Haynesworth and Haynesworth and D. W. Robinson.

Senator Blease is a brother-in-law of Mr. Summers.

Springfield, Mass., March 20.—(United Press.)—The body found in Longmeadow this afternoon might be that of Miss Francis St. John Smith, who mysteriously disappeared from Smith college over a year ago, was dissipated tonight when a check-up showed the descriptions of the body and the missing girl did not tally.

Detective David J. Manning, who has been given charge of the identification of the dead woman, told the United States that it was certainly not the body of the missing college girl.

Two lateral teeth, bound together with silver wire attached to a silver band, proved definitely that the body was not that of Miss Smith, a student at a nation-wide search was made at the time of her disappearance. Miss Smith, Smith college authorities told Manning, had teeth which were in perfect condition.

In addition to this dissimilarity, the body of the woman found today was somewhat heavier than that of the missing freshman. The body was described as 5 feet 6 inches in height and weighing 150 pounds, while Miss Smith was 5 feet 5 inches tall and weighed 130 pounds.

Pope's Anniversary Attracts Thousands To the City of Rome

Rome, March 20.—(P)—Presence of an unusually large number of pilgrims in Rome who are here in connection with the pope's fifteenth anniversary of his priesthood emphasized the city's observance of Good Friday today.

One of the outstanding observances of the day was the penitential pilgrimage across Rome to the Church of Santa Croce in Gerusalemme, where the relics of the Saviour's passion were preserved.

Another observance dear to the Romans was the "hour of the desolation" occurring in the early evening at which there were sermons and prayers for the sorrows of the blessed virgin at the foot of the cross. "Stabat Mater" was sung during this devotion, which was celebrated at Cardinal Mundelein's titular church, Santa Maria del Popolo, and at San Pietro in Vincoli, in which Michael Angelo's famous statue of Moses is to be found.

The conclusion of the Lateran treaty between the Italian government and the Vatican last year impressed, as today's ritual of prayer, the clergy were all in their black vestments. Altars were bare and statues shrouded.

Inman Testifies He Found Steele Asleep in His Home

TELLS OF PARTY IN BOARDWALK NIGHT CLUB

Reno, Nev., March 20.—(P)—Walker P. Inman, wealthy son of Mrs. James B. Duke, testified today in his divorce suit against Helen Patton Clarke Inman, Mrs. Inman, that he had never worked a week at anything other than trading on the New York stock market. This testimony came after effort had been made by the defense to blame Mrs. Inman's alleged drinking habits upon her husband.

Inman testified that he had at times spent more than his family estate income of $50,000, having gone as high as $100,000 a year.

He declared that his wife drank before they were married, quit for a while and then took to the habit again. From that time on, she gradually increased her imbibing. Although the complainant asserted he had tried to get his wife to drop the habit, defense attorneys insisted that Inman always kept liquor on hand.

Inman lost all interest in his wife after August 8, 1927, he said, declaring he then decided to give Mrs. Inman every opportunity to "hang herself"—that is, to go as far as she wanted. The witness said that he had knowledge of but one actual indiscretion on the part of Mrs. Inman. In 1925, it was stated, Inman spent several weeks experimenting with a radio in Greenwich Village, and went home early in the morning. He said he had met John Steele, vaudeville performer, at his home, but did not go to the couch one morning. His wife was in bed and he could not awaken her by shaking her. He said he never saw Steele again.

Inman testified that he had never seen Steele again. Mrs. Inman, until his attorney, Charles Caldwell, took them to him. He had no recollection of accusing his wife of any indiscretions with Steele in 1922 he said.

Bill Hardy, mentioned by several previous witnesses as having been unusually attentive to Mrs. Inman, was a sailor on Inman's yacht, Inman said. He was made captain of the yacht after a brief employment and Inman said the time when she, under the attention of Mrs. Inman at first, but did not go to the yacht. He said, Mrs. Inman remained on the boat alone with Hardy. Inman heard of it at 2 o'clock in the morning and could not get out to the yacht. He discharged Hardy in the fall of 1927, he said, after he had left Mrs. Inman.

A party at the Boardwalk Night Club in New York was described. Inman said he "had enough" and went out to the car and went to sleep. He was awakened when they arrived home, he said, and Mrs. Inman's brother got lost. Some time later, men brought him home, Inman said. Mrs. Inman's sister, Mrs. Carr, also was present.

Inman denied several times that he ever struck his wife, but finally admitted he had pushed her away from him, he said, and Mrs. Inman's influence of liquor, had pinched him. There were indications that the plaintiffs case might close tomorrow with the testimony of Inman's mother. Numerous depositions may then go into the record.

KELLOGG HAPPY WHEN RELIEVED OF STATE WORRIES

Washington, March 20.—(P)—Happy as a schoolboy off for a vacation, former Secretary Frank B. Kellogg, relieved of his cares in the state department, left Washington today for New York to board a steamer for Europe.

Many members of the diplomatic corps and officials of the state department gathered about the former secretary as he left the city. Kellogg, in his train to bid them good-by, Mr. Kellogg beamed with happiness at the greeting.

French Ambassador Claudel headed the diplomatic contingent. In the absence of the British ambassador, Sir Esme Howard, dean of the corps, who was unable to attend but who sent his secretary, Ronald Campbell, the little daughter of one of the diplomats presented a bouquet of roses to Mr. Kellogg.

Count Kalergi said that Europe had collaborated during four centuries to build the United States. As long as Europe is torn into states who hate, fear and distrust one another, the progress and prosperity of the world are in permanent danger of war and social and economic disaster, he wrote. The races who hate one another at home, he stated, live in perfect harmony as citizens of a single nation in the United States and therefore they should co-operate to reconcile their parents, brothers, sisters and cousins beyond the ocean. In this way he believed Americans could prevent their European mother from perishing.

EMERGENCY BOARD WILL PROBE STRIKE

Five Members Named To Look Into Texas & Pacific Rail Mix-Up.

Washington, March 29.—(AP)—President Hoover today issued a proclamation creating an emergency board of investigation to look into the threatened strike of workers of the Texas and Pacific railroad.

The board will consist of five members and will be directed to make a report of its findings.

The proclamation was issued shortly after Chairman Winslow of the federal board of mediation had called at the White House.

Under the proclamation the investigating body would be required to report on its findings within 30 days.

The board membership would be composed of five persons not peculiarly or otherwise interested in any organization of railway employees or any carrier.

The president in issuing the proclamation said he had been "duly notified" by the board of the dispute between the company and "certain of its employees represented by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, Order of Railway Conductors, and Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen."

Under the railroad act the creation of the investigating board by presidential authority is a means of effecting a settlement of the dispute by mediation and the employees from taking any action during the 30-day period allowed for the investigation.

TRADESMEN WITHDRAW NOTICE OF STRIKE

Dallas, Texas, March 29.—(AP)—An order which originally had called for a strike of 4,000 Texas & Pacific railway shop and train employees at 6 a. m. tomorrow, was withdrawn tonight by officials of the four brotherhoods.

This action came only a few hours after President Hoover had announced he would provide an emergency investigating committee to look into the dispute. This announcement automatically would have postponed a strike, or any other precipitate action, for 30 days.

Spokesmen indicated, however, that the withdrawal was temporary only, pending the report of an emergency investigating committee appointed by President Hoover late today. The decision does not mean that the 4,000 employees have dropped their grievance, the leaders asserted.

GLASS DRAFTS BILL TO CURB GAMBLING

desires and that he thought the board should call for Mitchell's resignation as a Class A director in the reserve banks, but that the board intended to adopt his suggestion.

Senator King is drafting a bill to authorize the reserve board to forbid its member banks to issue loans for marginal trading operations in the stock market. He also would give the member banks the right to refuse the rates on loans which they believe to be used for speculative purposes.

Last session when the senate asked the federal reserve board to curb the loans to brokers and dealers on stocks and bonds, the board replied that none was desired.

Chairman Norbeck and Senator Glass hold the view that the federal reserve board could meet the present situation to a large degree through employment of its administrative powers. Both also believe the board should have acted long ago along the line which it did pursue early this year in warning against increased brokers' loans.

"If the situation gets worse," said Norbeck, "I would be in favor of investigation, but I see no necessity for one now."

"I was alarmed about the inflation in the stock market a year ago and about the increased use of money then. I am one who believes that what goes up must come down. We investigated this a year ago and then I reported resolution to the senate asking the federal reserve board to admonish member banks to curb brokers' loans. That resolution never was acted upon."

"We expect great things from the board. When I think legislation becomes necessary I will be glad to have the committee consider it."

A year ago the senate banking committee did order a favorable report on the resolution of Senator La Follette, republican, Wisconsin, asking the federal reserve board to admonish member banks to curb brokers' loans. That resolution never was acted upon.

MITCHELL DEFENDS NATIONAL CITY LOANS

New York, March 29.—(AP)—Although the stock market took a holiday today, the stir which has been created in legislative circles by the recent credit crisis and Senator Glass' demand that Charles E. Mitchell resign from the directorate of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, set Wall Street to buzzing with excitement.

While bankers generally, including Mr. Mitchell, refused to comment on Senator Glass' attack on the head of the National City bank, the fresh possibility of a congressional investigation of speculation and credit, which invariably has caused considerable stock market irregularity, was viewed with much concern.

Mr. Mitchell, while declining to be drawn into a controversy with Senator Glass, who charged him with "viciously slapping the federal reserve board in the face," in making available $25,000,000 to break the credit jam which sent call money to 20 per cent on Tuesday, was willing to discuss the general financial and business situation.

He made it clear that no one was more opposed to frenzied stock speculation than himself, and repeated his warning of several weeks ago that the danger to every period of prosperity in the development of over-confidence in the stock market, but saw danger only in resumption of wild bullish operations in the stock market, but he added, smiling, "some people who had stock accounts a week ago are more conservative now."

Mr. Mitchell defended the action of the National City as protecting the nation's business and saving the public's confidence from too severe a shock. He said his bank was the largest stockholder in the National City's stock market loans run normally from $100,000,000 to $125,000,000, but this morning stood at only $129,000,000.

Credit still tight.

Mr. Mitchell, and bankers generally, described credit conditions as still tight. While the passing of the quarter-end shifting of balances next week is expected further to relieve the situation, Wall Street sees little hope of a return to normal credit conditions for some time. A reduction of only $114,000,000 in brokers' loans this week, failing to offset the jump of $160,000,000 the week before, was generally disappointing and it was felt in many quarters that further stock market liquidation must be expected.

While all the security and commodity markets were closed for the Good Friday holiday today, banks were open as usual, and many brokerage houses were opening their doors to clear away the accumulation of work from the tremendous stock turnover in the four market days this week. Practically all of the nation's commodity markets with the exception of the product exchange, will be closed tomorrow for a special holiday in honor of the Good Friday holiday. Offices will be open to finish up the back business.

FOUR STATES MOVE TO END DRY FORCE would come to nothing, and analyzed each situation in proof of this contention.

"Wets" See Early Victory.

"We are not worried a bit," he said. "The various state legislative assemblies he holds, would have occurred without the emphasis placed upon enforcement by passage of the Jones law and the waning of the hour of administration promptly thereafter. He regards the tightening of enforcement generally as a psychological effect of the opening of the door to a trend of public opinion against the law, and held that these various moves are early signs of such a trend."

Major Henry H. Curren, of New York, national executive of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, said recently that there was a "rising tide of opinion against prohibition." He denounced the Jones law, in particular, as taking the country back to the "dark ages."

Bills Meaningless, McBride.

"The Jones law is the 'dry's' reason for alarm at the failure of national prohibition in practice," he declared.

Specifying about the various legislative moves, Mr. McBride declared that the attempt in Illinois to repeal the state "dry" law will fail as the Illinois senate is preponderantly "dry," and would stop this move as it has "other 'wet' moves. The wetness of the house of representatives, he said, is due to their ability to elect "wet" members from "dry" downstate districts through the cumulative voting system for house elections.

"There is no more chance of repealing the state enforcement law than there is of congress repealing the Volstead act and the national amendment," he said, and he does not regard this as much of a chance.

He dismissed the introduction of a bill to repeal a large part of the Missouri enforcement act as "just another bluff" and predicted it would get nowhere.

McBride explained that the Anti-Saloon League did not support the "life for a pint" law in Michigan, which he said was not a "wet and dry" measure, but was a part of a general law covering all crimes to reach continual offenders. "Dry" members joined in voting for its repeal, he said, in exchange for another "dry" law which is similar to the Jones law but more drastic than the federal law, as it carries a minimum sentence.

Country vs. City.

The Anti-Saloon League superintendent of the Wisconsin referendum, despite the known liberality of the state, "drys" will join in voting against both issues presented, repeal of the state code and 275 per cent beer, he explained, while he believes that many "wets" will go on record for the beer, but will hesitate to vote for repeal of the state enforcement commission which the president McBride has just returned from a tour in the south in connection with a drive by the Anti-Saloon League to revive cooperation of the states with federal enforcement, and reports that the league agencies are very active.

"Our rural reserves are being brought into the cities to assist the dry workers there in awakening the officials to the need of co-operation in what we term our movement for concurrent enforcement of prohibition," he said.

He reiterated that the Anti-Saloon League intends to make no recommendations to President Hoover about the personnel of the law investigating commission which the president is expected to appoint soon.

Aurora, Ill., March 29.—(AP)—The attorney general's office took the first steps today to investigate a liquor raid by county officers a few days ago which resulted in the killing of Mrs. Lillian De King, injured to Joseph De King, her husband, whose home was raided, and the wounding of a deputy sheriff, shot by the De Kings' 12-year-old son.

LI-CHAI-SUM ALIVE NATIONALISTS ASSERT

Emphatic Denial Is Made That Canton Governor Has Been Executed.

Nanking, China, March 29.—(AP)—The nationalist government tonight officially denied reports that Li-Chai-sum, governor of Canton, had been executed.

The government indicated that Li-Chai-sum would be held prisoner for the duration of hostilities between Nanking forces and the Kwangsi opposition leaders, of whom Li was one. After the end of fighting his case will be further considered.

Li-Chai-sum had been several times reported executed by President Chiang Kai-shek in defiance of the guarantee of safety given the Canton leader by three high members of the nationalist government itself.

Wu Tze-hui, one of these guarantors, was said to have threatened to commit suicide if Li-Chai-sum were executed. It had been denied previously that Wu had actually carried out his threat.

Nanking, March 29.—(AP)—Chinese nationalist soldiers, moving to put down the movement in the Wuhan cities of Hupoh, have captured the city of Wusueh, inflicting sharp losses on Wuhan troops there. Wusueh is in Hupoh, on the Yangtze Kiang, between the Wuhan cities and Nanking.

New 'Skin Game' Believed Found By Local Police

Something of a novelty in the "confidence game" line of endeavor was believed to have been uncovered Friday with the arrest of J. C. McEwing, 633 E. Marietta street, by Detectives Anderson and Blair, upon the complaint of L. J. Broadwell, of 333 E. Donohue road, that McEwing had cheated him out of $200 on a job offer. McEwing was being held at headquarters on suspicion late Friday night.

According to accounts given officers by Broadwell, he met McEwing Thursday morning in a store near the Terminal station and they "struck a deal." McEwing was to be paid $200 for a job. Broadwell was looking for a job and offered him a job driving a truck, saying that he was a representative of a motor transport company, it was said. McEwing then stated that to get the job Broadwell must post a $20 bond, $10 payable on the spot and the balance in three installments. Broadwell then paid the first installment and they parted company to meet Friday morning at a place called Fairlee streets, it was alleged.

They met, Broadwell said, and McEwing sent him to the White Truck Company, on Broadway, and take it to the Candler warehouse, on Stewart avenue, there to await McEwing. Broadwell stated that he did not go to the warehouse and waited some hours for his "employer." When he failed to appear, he called McEwing's number, given him by McEwing, and from the man answering the telephone learned that McEwing was known at the grocery store in which the phone was located, and gained information as to where he might be found. Broadwell hurriedly returned the truck and sought detectives, who located McEwing. The prisoner had little to say but the truck company had plenty and Broadwell narrowly escaped arrest as an automobile thief.

Detectives stated that McEwing worked a similar trick on another man recently.

Members of the special council committee appointed to investigate a petition of the Natural Gas Company for a franchise to operate a gas pipeline from the Gulf of Mexico to the city of Atlanta, Georgia, today withdrew the petition.

Reuben Arnold, representing the company, said the two corporations were ready to sign a contract by which the Chicago company would sell the product through its mainline to Atlanta, and the Chicago firm, corroborated this statement.

Colony Peirce also took the floor and explained that the two companies had reached an agreement whereby the advantages of natural gas would be brought to Atlantans.

"We have spent nearly $1,000,000 to make it possible for Atlanta to get the natural gas, and at least will spend that much the first year," Colony Peirce said. "We will spend about $2,000,000 in the next year, and we expect to make the money back in time, but that will be over a period of years. Progress seems to be in the direction of natural gas, and we intend to extend our mains to the outskirts. Our company will take a loss of approximately $750,000 in the first year. We believe, however, that in the long run it will be more economical for the people of Atlanta and that is why we are making this move."

Cheaper Rate Wanted.

Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, of the Second ward, today declared his interest in getting a cheaper rate for the city. "I can not see a combine will assure a cheaper rate," he said. "It seems to me that such a course will establish a monopoly and the people will not get the savings if there are any in using natural gas."

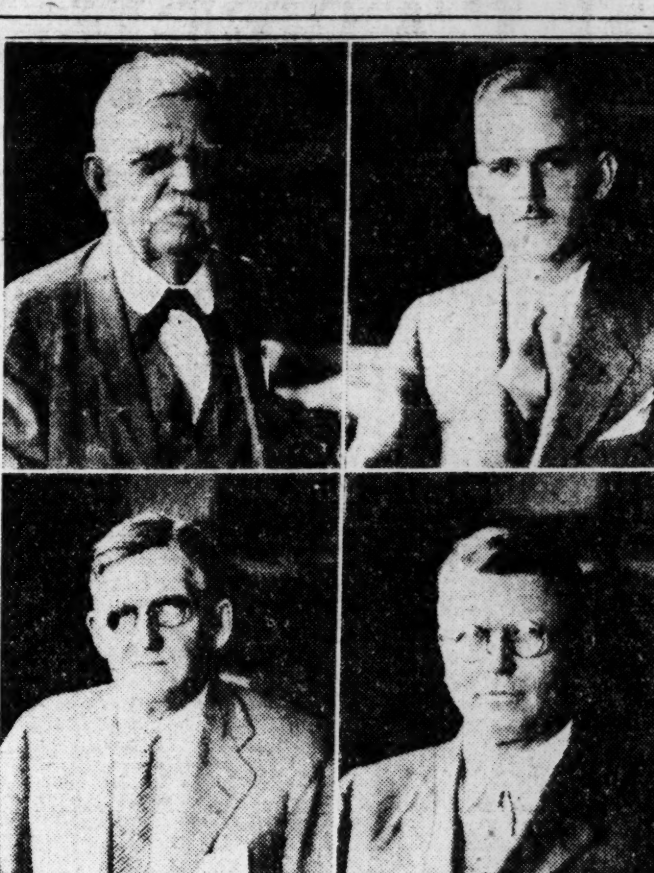

He said that the two corporations were ready to sign a contract by which the Chicago company would sell the product through its mainline to Atlanta, and the Chicago firm, corroborated this statement.

CANDLER FIELD

BY GENE HIXON, FRIDAY AIR MAIL.

From New York to Atlanta: 5:17 a. m. On Time. 4:30 p. m. On Time.

From Chicago to Atlanta: 5:25 a. m. On Time. 4:30 p. m. On Time.

From Miami to Atlanta: 5:45 a. m. On Time. 4:30 p. m. On Time.

Although a lot of flying was done Friday at Candler field by local pilots, only one visitor checked in at the airport during the day. The "Palladium" was speedily "curried" by a United States fighting plane, from Roberts field, Birmingham, Ala., which stopped at the field for a short time, instead of 3:30 o'clock, instead of 3:30 o'clock, the customary hour. The leaper will be Jesse Exum and he will start toward the ground from a plane piloted by A. H. Comer, of Beecher-Blevins' outfit.

Atlanta is to become an important link in a transcontinental air passenger chain which is expected to be forged in April, a month which will have practically a transcontinental route across the border states. Standard Air Lines, which has operated a passenger service from Los Angeles to Tucson for nearly two years, recently extended the line to El Paso. Last week, regular service from El Paso to Fort Worth was established by the Texas Air Transport and the air traveler may fly on to Houston and then to Atlanta, via New Orleans.

The Western Air Express, which has successfully operated passenger lines radiating from Los Angeles to San Francisco, Salt Lake City and Tia Juana, Mexico for the past three years, will in a few weeks, start plane service from Kansas City to Los Angeles, connecting with trains to New York and other eastern points. At about the same time, Transcontinental Air Transport will start a plane service from New York to Chicago and within a few weeks, Boeing Air Transport, which now holds the Chicago-San Francisco mail contract, will start a regular passenger service with multi-motor planes over the same route. National Air Transport, the Stout Airways and Colonial Air Transport all are operating lines over which the Chicago to New York leg of this transcontinental route can be flown in eight hours.

Albert S. Bacon Friday night was elected president of the Savannah chapter of the National Aeronautical Association, Mr. D. Dunning was named vice president, Charles E. Meyers, secretary, and Orrell Collins, treasurer. A committee was appointed to confer with the city council air transport today to plan for the entertainment of "Casey" Jones, famous flier and chief pilot for Curtiss Flying Service, who is to arrive in Savannah Monday. Captain William Enslow and C. E. Meyers flew to Sapelo Island Friday to greet Jones, who is to arrive there this morning to inspect the air transport.

Interstate Airlines officials here were given a turn Friday morning, when someone, apparently a "humorist," reported the crash of a mail plane near Moxley Park, which is along the Atlanta-Chicago air mail route. Interstate officials, Candler field pilots and many representatives of the general public raced to the spot mentioned in the report. Captain William Enslow and C. E. Meyers flew to Sapelo Island Friday to greet Jones, who is to arrive there this morning to inspect the air transport.

bearing. I had to quiet him so that we could assist him. I have been a driver here for three years and have never before had a complaint made against me for any reason."

Dr. McGinty described Shirley's wound, stating that the ice-pick did not penetrate the abdominal wall, that his injury was not serious and that the patient was so unwell that if he had been dangerously hurt, he would have injured himself by his constant movements.

"A dose of morphine would have prevented a good diagnosis of his injury," he said. "When I was told a patient with a gunshot wound was in the emergency clinic, I did not even take time to dress, but put my uniform on over my pajamas and wore my bedroom shoes to the clinic."

"He was raging. He cursed and abused every one who was trying to help him. If he had been injured very seriously, he would not have been so active. A superficial examination convinced me he was not stuck through the abdomen, but that the wound was through the flesh only. The operation which follows depends on my diagnosis. I had an antitoxin serum prepared and gave it to him just as soon as possible in order to forestall lockjaw."

"I have never said that violence was ever employed to quiet patients. Patients at Grady hospital get prompt, courteous attention. Patients, especially drunks, by holding them."

Dr. Gus Dorough, associate surgeon, who performed the operation on Shirley, and who, when he saw that Shirley's appendix was in bad condition, removed it while the first incision was made, corroborated Dr. McGinty's statement concerning the examination.

Dr. Ben H. Clifton, visiting head of the surgical department, also bore out McGinty's diagnosis.

Discipline Needed.

Dr. J. H. York, chief surgeon of the white unit, stated that some patients must be disciplined, and asked the committee for a ruling as to just how far attaches of the institution should go.

"Some patients absolutely refuse to be treated," he said. "Unless we treat them against their will, they might die."

LONG PUBLISHES OWN NEWSPAPER IN DEFENSE

Governor Gets Out Miniature Sheet in Campaign Against Impeachment.

Baton Rouge, La., March 29.—(AP) Governor Huey P. Long is publishing his own "newspaper," a miniature, in his campaign to defeat the 19 impeachment charges on which the state house of representatives will pass opinion next week.

While the rest of the town took a Good Friday holiday, typewriters rattled in the executive office as about five hundred stenographers and clerks prepared copy for the miniature newspaper, which he is mailing to all parts of the state. It contained further denunciations of his political enemies and "the Standard Oil crowd," who he charged, was responsible for the impeachment proceedings because he attempted to have an oil tax enacted.

The governor resorted to his own press because the daily newspapers of the state turned against him editorially and advocated impeachment. The Baton Rouge State Times demanded today the addition of two charges to the impeachment resolution of 19 counts. One charge, it said, should be based on the governor's refusal to let members of the legislature by charging them with accepting bribes from the Standard Oil company, and another on the governor's refusal to let state employees for his private interests.

No indications were given in executive quarters that Governor Long intended to publish the miniature newspaper. The governor's secretary, however, said he had been bribed by a senator resolution unanimously adopted. Late today Standard Oil attorneys filed a reply to the governor's suit. The governor's suit, however, did not consent to pose for photographers, who said he looked worn and drawn.

street will continue as the center of postal activities in Atlanta. The site will be remodeled to give greater accommodations for the federal court and United States district attorney's office.

ONLY AIR RIGHTS FOR SALE, SAYS PRESIDENT CLIFT

President A. E. Clift, of the Central of Georgia, Friday night in Savannah over long distance phone, stated that the Constitution's dispatch was the first information he had received on the advertisement for a site. Mr. Clift said that he had not heard anything from the government since the conference some time ago. He said that the advertisement for a site, this conference concerned only air rights for the postoffice department.

"We will not be interested in selling anything but the air rights," Mr. Clift stated. "Should these rights be suitable to the government, we will be glad to refer on the details. I cannot say until I have seen an official copy of the advertisement, just what our position will be."

Mr. Clift stated that the offer made the government some time ago as to price, while J. R. Pelley was president of the railroad, in all probability was a practical joke. He said that he did not state what the price was. Reports from Washington at that time placed it at $125,000.

Mr. Clift said that the air rights on this site he sold, the railroad would occupy the same space it now has, but that the new federal building might start from the ground, instead of bridging the present freight depot. Should it do this, the Central of Georgia would be given space equal to its present space.

Postmaster E. K. Large, who has been actively interested for the past few years in obtaining a new federal building for Atlanta, stated Friday that he was delighted at the prospect of immediate action on the part of the government.

"I am highly gratified," he declared, "that plans for a new building here have at last taken definite form and it is my earnest hope that a desirable site be secured without further delay so as to permit an early start on the new structure."

Federated Church Women Will Meet Today To Help Flood Disaster Victims

Pictures of Ravaged Sections in Georgia To Be Shown by Courtesy of U. S. Government.

Pictures of the flooded sections of Georgia taken by the United States government and loaned for the occasion by Major G. H. Franke, of fourth corps area headquarters at Fort McPherson, will be shown to the federated church women of Georgia who will assemble at the Chamber of Commerce at 11 o'clock this morning at the call of Miss Rosa Woodberry to discuss ways and means of cooperating with the local chapter of the American Red Cross in raising Atlanta's quota for the flood sufferers.

Meeting with the churchwomen will be representatives of practically all women's patriotic organizations, veterans' auxiliaries, Order of the Eastern Star and others.

Mrs. B. M. Boykin, chairman of the women's committee, which is maintaining headquarters in room 603 of the Chamber of Commerce building stated Friday that the response from the clubs and individual contributors was most gratifying.

In making her call for the meeting this morning Miss Woodberry stated that "one of the great departments of churchwomen's work is Christian social service and surely this cause of helping the helpless will make its strong appeal to those who follow the Savior, who went about doing good."

Miss Woodberry is president of the Federated Church Women of Georgia, and among the leading members in Atlanta are: Mrs. T. L. Lewis, Mrs. Charles McLaughlin, Mrs. Granger Hunsell, Mrs. F. Robin Graham, Mrs. D. F. Sanford, Mrs. C. V. Ailes, Mrs. L. H. Keller, Mrs. Elsie Thomas, Mrs. J. W. Willis, Mrs. L. A. Witherspoon, Mrs. John Kerkis, Mrs. C. R. Stauffer and Mrs. Allen Gray.

Robert E. Healy, commission counsel, said he had a few more witnesses to be examined and documents to be introduced as evidence. The hearings on the publicity activities of the public utilities were started in March, 1928.

Julia Claussen Says Hard Work Key to Success

When Julia Claussen, eminent contralto of the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York and who will be heard by Atlantans in the important role of "Amneris" in Verdi's spectacular opera, "Aida," on Tuesday night, April 23, was asked by William J. Guard to what she ascribed her artistic success, made the following interesting confession:

"If one should ask me what is the first consideration in becoming a success as a singer, I should say the ability to criticize one's self. I had a very competent musician as a teacher and he told me that I would never be able to trill. This was very disheartening; but he really believed, according to his conservative knowledge, that I should never succeed in getting the necessary flexibility.

"By chance I happened to meet a celebrated Swedish singer, Mme. Ostberg, of the old school. I communicated to her the discouraging news that I could not ever hope to trill.

"Nonsense, my dear," she said, "some one told me that too, but I determined that I was going to learn to trill. I worked up to 3 o'clock one morning and before I went to bed I was able to trill."

"I decided to take Mme. Ostberg's advice, and I practiced for several days until I knew that I could trill, and then I went back to my teacher and showed him what I could do. It was then that I learned that the singer can do almost anything within the limits of the voice, if one will only work hard enough."

GEORGE WILL ASK U. S. TO AID IN ROAD REPAIRS

Georgia Senator Asks for Information as to Highways Damaged by Flood.

United States Senator Walter F. George will seek aid from the federal government in repairing damage caused to federal aid highways in Georgia by recent floods, he announced Friday in a letter to John N. Holder, chairman of the state highway board. He asked Chairman Holder for certain information about these highways which Mr. Holder said would be forwarded to Senator George as soon as it is completed by engineers of the department.

The letter is as follows: "Hon. John N. Holder, Chairman, State Highway Commission, Atlanta, Ga.

"Dear John—At the last session of congress an appropriation was made to reimburse some of the states of the Mississippi valley for money expended in replacing highways to which federal aid had in the first instance been extended.

"In view of serious damage done to roads, causeways and bridges on federal aid roads in Georgia, I wish you could have prepared for me an accurate surveyor's estimate and report upon damage occasioned by recent floods in Georgia to federal aid roads, etc. I do not know that I can obtain an appropriation for reimbursing the state, but I shall attempt to do so.

"With all good wishes, I am, "Very truly yours," "WALTER F. GEORGE."

ATLANTA STORES SHOW TRADE GAINS IN SPITE OF FLOODS

Although trade in general over the sixth federal reserve district was adversely affected by the recent heavy rains, Atlanta department stores reported slight increases in sales over the preceding month and over January and February, 1935, it was learned Friday from reports made public by the Atlanta Federal Reserve bank.

Because the incessant rains reacted to the detriment of agriculture over the district the other five reporting cities therein showed decreases of from 2.9 to 12 per cent in total retail turnover from February, 1935. Atlanta showed during February a gain of 3.5 per cent over the same month of 1934 while the period from January 1 to February 28, 1935, showed an increase of 8 per cent over the same period of 1934.

According to the review for the month, business in general continued good, despite slight decreases in agricultural activity and in building. The individual debit average decreased slightly also, but this was not a large enough decrease to justify any alarm, the review implied.

NEW YORK CENTRAL PREPARES TO MEET BUS COMPETITION

The New York Central Lines, effective April 28, will inaugurate a new train between Cincinnati and Detroit, The Motor-Queen, which will maintain a schedule of seven days a week between these two cities, the Motor City and the Queen City, leaving Cincinnati at 3:20 p. m., arriving Detroit 10:20 p. m., and southbound, leaving Detroit at 3:00 p. m., arriving Cincinnati 10:00 p. m.

These trains will carry observation coach, dining-lounge car, club car, and coaches with individual de luxe seats. A passenger leaving Atlanta in the evening, approximately 6 p. m., arriving Cincinnati early next morning and has the opportunity of spending a business day in Cincinnati, and gets to enjoy the comforts of a room, bath, and bed the same evening in Detroit, arising fresh and ready for the day following.

There is no extra charge for the use of any of the equipment on these trains.

The question is often asked what, if anything, the railroads are doing to offset bus competition, and to "keep in the going" when the air service is established. This is just one instance of what is being done.

This system has established the same kind of trains between New York and Buffalo, Chicago and Buffalo, and put on new fast trains St. Louis and Cincinnati to New York, and accelerated the time of the Twentieth Century Limited one hour between Chicago and New York.

The correct title for Cartoon No. 9 can be found in this list: "The Fighting Fury," "The Poison Pen," "Western Speed," "Two-Edged Sword," "Respect by Proxy," "Pecock Alley," "Racing Luck," "You're Fired," "The Lamp," "Monkey Shines," "No Fare," "Maytime," "William Tell," "The Beauty Shop," "Sunnyside Up," "The Love Letter," "Money Mad," "Sultans," "The Rustle of Silk," "The Green Cloak," "Tears and Smiles," "The Lost Paradise," "Face at the Window."

What HE Did, You Can Do!

HIS name is Sam S. Dewson.

He lives at 156 Feld avenue, Decatur, Ga.

He spends the greater part of his time travelling for an electrical accessory manufacturer.

About six months ago his attention was attracted to a contest announced by The Atlanta Constitution. He had never particularly studied about or been interested in contests. But this contest appealed to him. He liked the idea because he DID NOT HAVE TO COMPETE AGAINST ANYBODY FOR SUBSCRIPTIONS. The idea was merely to name the titles of the motion pictures represented by a series of 30 cartoons. No need of paying or collecting any money from the subscribers.

He persuaded several of his friends to sign their names, agreeing to take The Atlanta Constitution for six months, paying the carrier boy 20 cents at the end of each week.

Then he worked out his answers to the cartoons.

"I'm gonna win myself a big automobile," he told his best friend.

"You're crazy," he was told.

"Maybe so," he grinned. "But I think I named 'em right, and if my answers aren't correct, I certainly want to know which ones are."

So he waited. And the judges examined the answer.

And one sweet Sunday morning, two of Sam Dewson's children rushed into his bedroom, screamed, yelled and shrieked at their daddy.

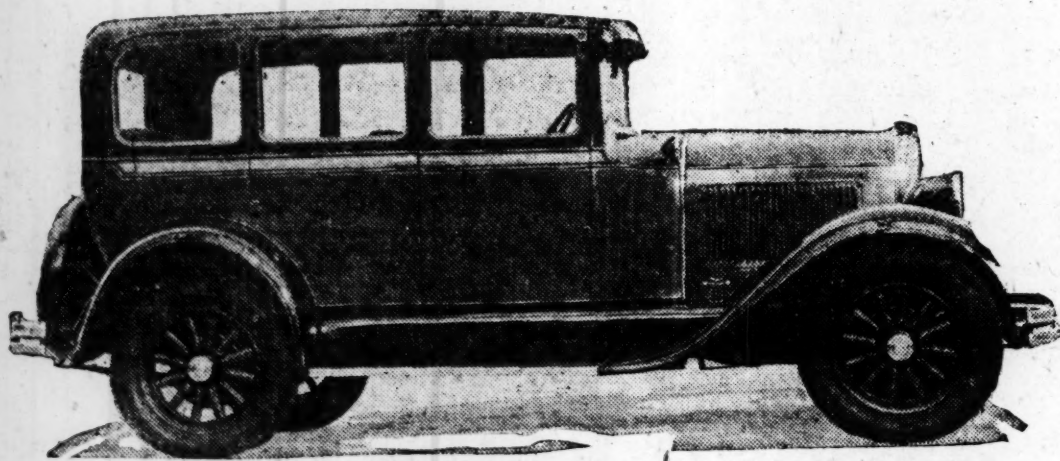

Sam Dewson likes his Sunday morning sleep. He sat up startled, rubbing his eyes, and was just on the verge of exploding in righteous wrath when he heard the kids saying:

"You WON, Daddy. You won TWO automobiles—one for each of us."

Sam Dewson's sleep was over. In ten minutes he had The Atlanta Constitution on the telephone and was asking where he could call for his two cars. Those kids wanted to go riding. And they did—in the two cars their daddy won with less than an hour's effort.

SPRIT OF EASTER REIGNS AT TODAY'S GAYETIES

Appropriate Decorations Sound Note of Glorious Season

In accord with the spirit of Easter, an appropriate note of this glorious season will be sounded in the decoration motif featuring the innumerable social gayeties scheduled for today. Myriads of waxen white lilies, so symbolic of the day celebrated throughout the world, will prevail in the floral decorations with miniature rabbits, chickens and ducklings playing a conspicuous part as favors, place cards and souvenirs at the teas, luncheons and dinner parties.

Throughout the city today hundreds of Atlanta children will be seen romping and running over spacious grassy-green terraces in search of brightly colored eggs hidden in every conceivable nook. The joy of the hunt will be shared with the tiny tots by fond mammas, papas, uncles, aunts and devoted nurses, who will assist in the diligent search for the prize golden egg. Among the largest egg hunts that will assemble several hundred members of the youthful army set this afternoon on the velvety green parade ground at Fort McPherson 45 sponsored by the chapel guild of this popular army post. Little Miss Frances Alston, will celebrate her eighth birthday with an egg hunt this afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Ott Alston, on Andrews drive. At the same hour another group of Atlanta's future belles and beaux will gather at the home of Mrs. DeLoz White on Yorkshire road, where they will join with Delos H. White, Jr., for an egg hunt. Following an annual custom, Mrs. Robert H. Martin will entertain at an egg hunt in honor of 20 little guests, whose parents are close friends of the hostess. The beautiful grounds surrounding Mrs. Martin's Peachtree road home will provide a picturesque setting for this joyous occasion that will be followed by contests and games.

Although egg hunts seem to be the order of the day, the social calendar reveals parties galore at which popular college belles, brides-elect and visitors will be honored guests. The hundreds of reservations made for dinner at the Piedmont Driving club and the Atlanta Athletic Club forecast a brilliant climax to the day's celebrations.

Mrs. Clark Howell, Sr., Honors College Belles.

Mrs. Clark Howell, Sr., will entertain this afternoon at a tea-length at the Brookhaven Country Club honoring her schoolgirl daughter, Miss Mary Ann Carr, who has arrived from National Park seminary, Washington, D. OUR CLUB — By Seckatary Hawkins

WHAT DO YOU FELLOWS WANT?
I SAW SOME PELHAMS STANDING AT THE BACK FENCE LOOKING IN. THEY WANTED TO BUY THE PIGEONS, BUT I SAID THEY WERE NOT FOR SALE.

HURRIED INTO THE HOUSE AND TOLD MOM I WAS GOING DOWN TO THE CLUB MEETING. WHEN I CAME OUT AGAIN I SAW TWO PELHAMS JUMP OVER THE FENCE. THE PIGEONS WERE FLYING AROUND LIKE THEY WERE ALL SCARED UP.

HAWKINS! YOU OUGHT TO HAVE MORE SENSE THAN TO COME DOWN HERE, WHEN THOSE PELHAMS ARE HANGING AROUND THAT PIGEON COOP!

WHEN I WENT DOWN TO OUR CLUBHOUSE AND TOLD THE FELLOWS ABOUT IT, THEY SAID THE PIGEONS WERE IN MY CARE AND I HAD TO TAKE CARE OF THEM. THEN I REMEMBERED THE PELHAMS WERE AT MY BACK FENCE WHEN I LEFT HOME.

Keith's Georgia.

The Four Camerons, Ma, Pa, brother and sister, are raising plenty of furore on the Keith's Georgia stage this week, as well as in the audience. They present an act which could be presented only by the Camerons, non-sensical and ridiculous, but deucedly laughable. Pa Cameron is the chap who speaks lovingly to his son: "Be a good boy, son, or Papa'll give you a good spanking." Other Keith big-time acts and the all-talking special, "Strange Cargo," complete the bill.

Loew's Capitol.

The pictorial version of Peter B. Kenes' famous novel, "Tide of Empire," is being shown for the last time today at Loew's Capitol theater, in conjunction with the first-run bill of Loew vaudeville. The feature film production, massive in its conception, is a thrilling narrative of the adventures of a group of men who, in the days of gold seekers, crossed the continent and traveled "round the Horn" to reach California in search of riches. Renee Adoree, the female star of "The Big Parade," George Fawcett and George Duryea have the principal roles. Eddie Conrad, a "hot musical-comedian," headlines the vaudeville bill.

Howard.

Only one more day remains for Atlanta fans to see and hear Lupe Velez and Gary Cooper in "Wolf Song," the picture which it is claimed began the fervid romance between these stars that will culminate in their marriage at an early date. Al Short, on the stage, is presenting "Tin Types," featuring Art Frank and Barbara Vernon.

Atlanta.

"Skidding," a skit mixture of pathos and laughter, which is still enjoying a successful run on Broadway, is to be the next presentation of the Fulcrum all-star players at the Atlanta theater. Mr. Fulcrum secured this play for Atlanta while it was still in New York through special arrangements with the producers. "Skidding" gets its greatest charm and appeal from the sparkling vein of humor which runs through the picture of a typical family in a small middle-western town.

BEAUTY FASHIONS

A GOOD STYLE FOR A SCHOOL DRESS.

6446. Plain woolen in brown tones was chosen for this attractive model, with plain woolen in a beige shade for collar and cuffs. This is also a good style for jersey, crepe, and for cotton prints. A hip band shaped in a split curve in front, joins the waist, and the skirt which is arranged in pleats to form a wide panel over the center front and back. The sleeve is full above a band cuff. The neck is finished with a rolled collar. The pattern for this pleasing model is cut in 4 sizes: 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. To make the dress for a 10-year size will require 2 1/2 yards of 36-inch material. For collar and cuffs of contrasting material 1-4 yard is required 26 inches wide.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

MIDNIGHT FROLIC FOR 81 PATRONS PROVES BIG HIT

With Lillian Glenn, the popular Columbia record star, a well organized eight-piece jazz orchestra and a capable cast of assistants, "Miss Broadway," presented Friday night at 81 Decatur Street theater, in a midnight frolic for white patrons only, proved to be one of the most enjoyable and interesting shows of the local season.

It was the second time this year that the show has been presented, but the return engagement was far better than the first appearance and practically every part excelled the first offering.

The feature was the blues singing of Lillian Glenn. She sang several numbers twice because of the continuous rounds of applause that followed the first presentation. Among the feature blues songs were "Dogging Me," "Original Blues," and others.

Singing was not the high light of the show alone, for in "Snow" Miller and "Billy" Pierson, "Miss Broadway" presented two of the cleverest comedians that have appeared here in many a day. Their work was exceptionally good.

The Alabama Jazz Stompers, an eight-piece orchestra under direction of Rubin Wood, attracted considerable attention throughout the show and in addition gave a brief concert just before the show began. A well-trained chorus also enlivened the show considerably.

STUDY OF PASTOR IN CHURCH ROBBED; TWO RUGS STOLEN

Two rugs, valued at about $85, were stolen from the study of Dr. Witherspoon Dodge, pastor of the Central Congregational church, early Friday morning. The marauders gained entrance by breaking the glass in a side window on the ground floor, made their way to the second floor and there entered the study by breaking through the glass panels of the locked door. The theft was discovered at about 9 o'clock Friday morning by Dr. Dodge, who reported to police. The office had been ransacked and papers strewn over the floor.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

A DEED OF DARKNESS.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

The evil deer loves the night
And hates and fears the hours of light.
—Farmer Brown's Boy.

Farmer Brown had been reading the evening paper. "I see," said he, "that there have been chicken thieves working in this part of the country. You want to watch out, Son, that you don't lose your hens some fine night. Here is an account in the paper of the taking of all of one farmer's hens and the thieves got away with them."
"I don't believe any one will bother us," said Farmer Brown's Boy. "I guess the Hound would give us warning."
"Well," replied Farmer Brown,

These two thieves were used to locked doors.

"I'll take my advice and be sure that you lock the henhouse door every night." Farmer Brown's Boy said that he would. In fact, he got up right then and went out to make sure that the henhouse door was locked. But he wasn't really afraid that thieves would visit that henhouse. No one ever had stolen any chickens there—that is, no human being had ever stolen any. Of course, Reddy Fox and Robber the Rat and Shadow the Weasel had from time to time taken a few, but somehow Farmer Brown's Boy had never regarded these as thieves.

That night Bowser the Hound, who had been left unchained, took his head to go hunting. He knew that he shouldn't do it, but every so often the desire to hunt became so strong in Bowser that he just had to. So it was that just before he went to bed, Farmer Brown's Boy heard Bowser's voice way over in the Old Pasture. The old scamp," said he, "Well, it's my fault. I should have chained him up. Well, Reddy Fox will give him a good run, and then Bowser will come home all tired out and there'll be no harm done."

It was along in the darkest hour of the night that two figures stole up to the henhouse. They were very, very quiet. All was still at Farmer Brown's house, for every one was asleep in there. "Are you sure that that dog isn't around?" whispered one of these dark figures to the other.

"Listen!" said the other. "There's his voice now, way over in the back part of the Old Pasture. I know that hound's voice. I wouldn't have suggested trying for these hens here if I hadn't been sure the dog was gone. Hello! The door is locked."

But the locked door made little difference. These two thieves were used to locked doors. It took only a few moments to force it open. When they entered the henhouse, one of them turned on a flashlight. "My," he whispered, "this is the best lot of hens we've found. This will be a good night's work. Where are the hens?"

"Just outside," replied the other thief. "I'll bring them in."
"We'll have to work quickly," said one, "that dog may come home before morning. We want to take these birds alive," said the first thief; "but we'll have to work carefully, so as not to get them to making a noise. You hold the bag while I pick them off the roosts."

Meanwhile, in Farmer Brown's house, Farmer Brown's Boy was peacefully sleeping. It hadn't entered his head that anything could happen to those precious hens of his.

The Mirror of the Mode

BY MARY MARSHALL

Abstractly considering the matter you might think that nude stockings displayed from the knee down would be more conspicuous than nude stockings displayed from the knee up. You might think that longer skirts and unevenly draped skirts would make light-stockings less conspicuous, but as a matter of fact they do just the reverse.

And while the new longer skirt will certainly do nothing to make women less interested in their stockings, it will do just the opposite. It is something to change the color of stockings.

To wear with black evening gowns of longer, uneven hemline, many women, especially in France, are choosing sheer black stockings, and from Paris comes word that sheer black stockings with insets at the front of fine black lace are chosen by a number of the best-dressed women to wear with black evening gowns.

Another French fashion is to wear stockings dyed to match the frock, and for gowns that make use of the same color in shaded tones the stockings match the darkest—not the lightest. Thus a "dusky" frock that shaded from the faintest pink to

A deep rose was worn with stockings dyed to the precise tone of the deep rose of the frock.

And yet, at most of the southern resorts in this country stockings of a pronounced sun tan shade have been worn for both day and evening by the large majority of women.

One or two sleeveless blouses are a real necessity in every woman's spring wardrobe. They are so convenient to wear under your suit-jacket or sweater on warmer spring days. This week's diagram pattern shows how you can make one with the new straight neckline—and it is extremely easy to make. On receipt of your stamped, self-addressed envelope I will gladly send you a copy.

If you would like some of the following circulars just check them, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for them, and they will be sent to you promptly.

Hard-Hitting Bulldogs Smother South Carolina, 10 to 4

GEORGIA TAKES FIRST VICTORY IN CONFERENCE

Gamecocks Rally in Ninth To Score Five Runs Off Reserve Pitcher.

Athens, Ga., March 29.—(AP)—Three South Carolina pitchers could not check the heavy-hitting University of Georgia Bulldogs today and the Red and Black won the first southern conference game of the season, 10 to 6.

The Gamecocks, however, all but slaughtered Swanson, a reserve pitcher, who relieved Lefty Murdock, at the end of the eighth inning, the Birds gathering five hits and scoring five runs in that inning.

Murdock held the Gamecocks to seven scattered hits and only one run during his tenure on the mound.

Rothstein, heavy-hitting Georgia first baseman, contributed to Gamecock defeat with a home run over the negro bleachers in left field in the third inning, and Jacobson drove one into the bleachers in the fourth inning for a circuit trip.

GIANTS ANNEX NINTH VICTORY AND QUIT CAMP

Pirates Bow, 6-3—Jackson Gets Home Run in Eighth Inning.

McGraw Is Struck On Head by Ball
San Antonio, March 29.—(AP)—John J. McGraw, manager of the Giants, was dazed momentarily when struck on the head by a wildly-thrown ball as he sat on the New York bench today before the start of the game against Pittsburgh. The Giant chieftain escaped serious injury only because he saw the ball coming just in time to dodge sufficiently to prevent its crashing into his temple. As it was, McGraw suffered no more than a bruise.

San Antonio, March 29.—(AP)—The Giants stretched their spring winning streak to nine games here today as the Pirates were humbled by 6 to 3, in the clash which marked the last day of the New York team's stay at the training base.

The Pirates outbatted the Clan McGraw by 9 to 8, but Genewich and Scott were strong in the pinches. Travis Jackson cleared the left-center field fence in the eighth with a titanic home run.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Pittsburgh (N) 001 100 001—3 9 1. N. Y. (A) 000 012 015—6 3 1.

Batteries: Petty, Dawson and Hemley; Genewich, Scott and Hogan.

Washington Wins Tenth of Contests.

Tampa, Fla., March 29.—(AP)—Washington ran its spring winning streak to ten out of twelve games today by defeating the St. Louis Cardinals, 5 to 2, in the first of a three-game series.

Gordon Defeats Fulton High, 11-7.

Barnesville, Ga., March 29.—(Special)—Gordon Institute defeated the fast Fulton High baseball team of Atlanta by an 11-7 score here Friday afternoon.

Robert, Fulton left-fielder, led the field at bat with one hit in one official trip to the plate. Williams, Parks and Harris, ran him a close race, each getting three hits in five attempts. Parks featured long hits, including a home run and a triple in his contributions.

John Kiernan, veteran sports writer on the New York Times, makes a very laudable suggestion that the iron with which Bob Jones won his first national open be used as an international trophy.

Bob gave the club as a memento to J. S. Worthington when the latter returned to England in serious ill health just after the great playoff at Inwood. Bob used the iron to play a great shot to the home green in his playoff with Bobby Cruickshank on that occasion.

Baseball Abandoned.
Kalamazoo college and Alma college, both of Michigan, have abandoned baseball.

Generals Win, 3-2, Over Princeton Team

Lexington, Va., March 29.—(AP)—Princeton lost their first baseball engagement of the season here this afternoon when Washington and Lee emerged from the nine-inning grind with the long end of a 3-to-2 score. The victory was Washington and Lee's third for the season, without a loss this far.

Delta Sigs Take Basketball Title

The trophy emblematic of victory in the Georgia Tech interfraternity basketball loop went to Delta Sigma Phi at the Flats Friday afternoon by breaking a three-year winning streak of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, to win the title game, 18-17. A loss from mid-court by Herring just as the final whistle blew accounted for the win.

Delta Sig led most of the way, enjoying a 5-0 advantage at the end of the quarter and running this count up to 9 points before S. A. E. scored. The score at the half was 11-5.

S. A. E. came back strong in the second half to creep up slowly and steal the lead at 17-16, but with a few minutes to play, Delta Sig started a desperate last-minute drive which was held in check by the close guarding of S. A. E. until Herring let fly with the winning shot.

Guarding and all-round play of O'Neil featured the affair. He shot the first five points for Delta Sig, but was stopped by S. A. E. thereafter and did nothing more than to hold the S. A. E. total down. Herring led the scoring with six counters.

Harris was high point man for the day, having nine points to his credit. THE LINE-UP.

On April 4, which appears to be next Thursday, the Thomaston team will meet its arch enemy from Valdosta on the Valdosta course and the experts from the turpentine country predict a very interesting day.

John Kiernan, veteran sports writer on the New York Times, makes a very laudable suggestion that the iron with which Bob Jones won his first national open be used as an international trophy.

Bob gave the club as a memento to J. S. Worthington when the latter returned to England in serious ill health just after the great playoff at Inwood. Bob used the iron to play a great shot to the home green in his playoff with Bobby Cruickshank on that occasion.

A CRACKER A DAY

To day Charlie Wilson, Trainer

By Ben Rothman

THIS pleasant-looking young fellow doesn't play baseball, but he holds a very important position at Mr. Spiller's establishment on Ponce de Leon. Whenever a Cracker turns up with a sore arm, sprain, bruise or the like, his first stop is Wilson's rubbing table in the clubhouse, where he gives them attention and keeps the lads in shape.

In addition to that, Wilson is busy engaged after each work-out giving the Crackers rubdowns, which is his profession. Charlie has studied the art and is surprisingly proficient.

Wilson came into the art of training through the ring. Back in 1914 he turned professional and fought for two years as a featherweight, rising high in the ranks. The war came along and Wilson joined the army. Getting out in 1919 he went back to the ring and pounded away with his leather mittens for another year before he decided to leave the squared circle.

He had become interested in the training end of the fight game and wishing to learn something about it, went to Philadelphia and entered the Philadelphia Academy of Therapy, where he studied for three years under Dr. Lorenzo Von Straussman, an expert in therapy rubbing.

Following this Wilson went abroad and studied under experts in Munich, Germany, returning to the States in 1924. Then he began service in New York, serving prize fighters, among them Benny Leonard, undefeated lightweight champion; Jack Dempsey, Jack Sharkey and Paul Berlenbach.

Then he became connected with Stillman's gymnasium in New York and did a great deal of work on baseball players who came there to get in shape before bouncing off to spring-training camp.

Among the men of the diamond was Babe Ruth.

A couple of months ago Eddie Hanlon, local promoter, sent to New York for Wilson to come down and train Stiles Attaway for his fight with Ted Goodrich.

Wilson came down, and while in town was made an offer by Spiller to train the Crackers this summer that he couldn't refuse. So if you ever happen to see at the park a little fellow in red sweater and white duck pants who looks as though he knows exactly what he is doing, then you have seen Charlie Wilson.

The SPORTELIGHT

It doesn't call for any great amount of genius to churn up interest in a boxing match or a fight, and get the populace steamed up over the matter. But when this is accomplished, getting the fighters to fight, is something else again.

With all seats taken and the tills overflowing with gold, the main actors then turn and hand you a "Sharkey-Stribling" or a "McLarnin-Miller" anti-climax that carries about as much melodrama as a half-stuffed yawn.

Most of the boys are thinking of the next fight. The money for the one at hand is already in. You can lead 'em into the ring, but you can't make 'em swing. This may be good business on the part of the fighter and again it may not. The more a fight is ballyhooed the duller it turns out. No one expects every fight to be a thriller, but fighters collecting from $25,000 to $100,000 have got to put on something more than a dancing act, no matter how fancy the "light fantastic toe" might operate.

Just how any one can force a fighter to fight, to spill his stuff, with all the competition now at hand in five or six big cities, isn't the easiest problem in the world. There are only a few headliners or crowd-pullers and there are six or eight promoters after them.

Many of the fighters or boxers or whatnots who have been guaranteed so much for a March show, have no idea of spoiling a good May or June date by taking any unnecessary chances. They figure the crowd will forget in a few days—and apparently the crowd does.

The more money that is crowded into the situation, the less chance taking there will be. The general idea is to clean up while the cleaning up is good.

The Crowd's Angle.
No one expects to see another Ketchell or another Dempsey, tearing in to win or lose by a punch. Ketchells and Dempseys are extremely scarce. But neither should one be expected to see a boxer go entirely defensive in order to save himself for a later date.

It may be good business for a few months, but it can't last much longer. The promoters tell you they would like to be shown some way of making the boys get out and scramble.

In this respect they are still baffled. The fighters are not bothering much about it as long as the crowd continues to pack the scene and roll out the coin.

One trouble is that too many modern boxers think that $25,000 is only pocket change for taking a bow.

Measuring the Difference.
Figure the difference that exists in a big money golf tournament. Here each player gets just what he earns from competition. To finish first he must beat a strong field. If he happens to have an off day he doesn't collect. He has to earn every dime he gets. What a different brand of entertainment there would be in the ring if the main entries had to earn their pay.

As it is now, a knockout means a big financial setback for the party knocked out. He has to make a new start and take a big cut in his next fight. The more money involved the more careful many of them figure they have to be. The big kick is that they are overfiguring.

It is going to take something more than the other seven American league clubs to cure Babe Ruth of the habit of collecting his share of the annual world series. The Babe has had the habit so long that it has infested his entire system.

L. G. Hagen made his first bid for fame in the United States open of 1913, when he was about twenty years old. He gathered little glory in that championship and yet as an unknown he had a chance to win with only six holes left, when a wild brassie in a drizzling rain broke up his attack. A year later he was open champion.

MISS VAN WIE WINS TOURNEY

Southern Pines, N. C., March 29.—(AP)—Miss Virginia Van Wie, brilliant Chicago linkswoman, today added the winner's laurels in the first annual Mid-South women's medal tourney. Her card of 162 for the 36-hole event gave her a three-stroke margin over Miss Glenna Collett, of Providence, R. I., national women's champion, who finished in second place with 165.

Two strokes behind Miss Collett was Miss Helen Hicks, 18-year-old golf sensation from Hempstead, L. I., who added an 81 today to her 86 of yesterday for a final total of 167.

Miss Marion Turpin, of New Orleans, finished fourth with 168, one stroke ahead of Miss Louise Fordyce, of Youngstown, Ohio, who was in fifth place.

Throughout the two days' play, Miss Van Wie's golf was sensational. Her outward round of 38 featured yesterday's play and she was well on her way to another low score outward journey today when misjudged putts resulted in 66 on the fourth, fifth and sixth holes. Even with her putter refusing to work, she bagged a 41 and made the journey over the homeward nine in the same score.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 29.—(United Press)—As the New York Yankees broke camp tonight, Miller Huggins announced that in the game at Jacksonville tomorrow Leo Durocher would displace Lyn Lary at shortstop for the world champions.

Huggins said that Lary was a splendid prospect, but had faults in receiving and throwing the ball which make it advisable for him to use Durocher.

"In Durocher we will have the fielding sensation of big league short fielders," Huggins said. Lary came to the Yankees this spring from the Oakland club without a trial several months ago and now Lary is relegated to the bench with glaring faults in fielding an .180 batting average for the Yankee exhibition games.

ACUTE, DUN SAYS

ACUTE DUN SAYS

New York, March 29.—(A)—Dun's Review tomorrow will say:

No features of the commercial situation have compared in general interest with the striking financial movements of the present week. Early acute depression on the stock exchange, extending to markets for cotron and grains, reflected the increased credit tension, with the highest call loan rate in nearly a decade. The monetary position remains abnormal, but banking support quickly relieved the speculative unsettlement, and only in isolated instances was special hesitation in trade observed. Confidence continues to be predominant sentiment in mercantile and industrial circles, being sustained by the favorable rec-cord of the quarterly period now ending, and added momentum to business progress is imparted by the stimulus of a new season. The large volume of the eastern turnover has given another proof of the high level of the public buying power, employment of labor is rising as outdoor work broadens, and important manufacturing lines disclose unusual activity. Even the recent exceptional averages of steel output is being maintained.

ing exceeded now, with many plants operating at practical capacity, and the status of most of the principal metals is one of the buoyance. Not every branch of enterprise reveals the same unsatisfactory phases exist, but the main trend is toward expansion.

A comedy number, "You Ought to Hear Old Laugh," is enriched with a selected chorus, and the program also includes a solo by each of the duo. Two encoquined numbers of a Swiss flavor will be played by the orchestra under Mr. Perz.

Merger of International Telephone and Radio Corporation is Reported

DEFINITE ANNITIES WILL BE BROUGHT UP

BY SAMUEL DASHIELL.

United News Staff Correspondent.

Paris, March 20 (United News).—Definite German annuity proposals are expected to be brought before the reparations experts when they resume sessions April 1 or the conference doubtless will adjourn, in the opinion of the conservative French press.

The failure of leading world bankers and economists to reach an agreement on what "war debts" Germany shall pay the allied governments annually, was commented on generally by the French press today, with emphasis on the German failure to make a negotiable offer.

It was hinted that Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, head of the German reparation fund, had not been sufficiently instructed by the German chancellor, Hermann Mueller, prior to the conference, and that he had been asked for the experts conference to find some better reparations terms than the Dawes plan offered.

The German experts adjourned yesterday each was supplied with a memorandum which Owen D. Young, American unofficial delegate and chairman of the Dawes plan committee, was required to answer by Germany.

That answer, it was expected, will be brought by Dr. Schacht in the next session of the conference, when the conference reconvenes next Thursday.

On the other hand if the answer should indicate the German delegation is not prepared to accept the Dawes plan, it would mean the end of the conference, and the reparations would continue under the Dawes plan.

Produce ACUTE, UN SAYS

New York, March 20.—(AP)—Dun's Review tomorrow will say: No features of the commercial situation have compared in general interest with the striking financial movements of the present week. Early acute depression on the stock exchange, extending to markets for cotton and grains, reflected the increased credit tension, with the highest call loan rate in nearly a decade. The monetary position remains normal, but banking support quickly relieved the speculative unsettlement, and only in isolated instances was special hesitation in trade observed. Confidence continues to be predominant sentiment in mercantile and industrial circles, being sustained by the favorable record of trade observed since now ending, and added momentum to business progress is imparted by the stimulus of a new season. The large volume of the eastern turnover has given another proof of the high level of the public buying power, employment of labor is rising as outdoor work broadens, and the eastern manufacturing lines display close unusual activity. Even the recent exceptional averages of steel output is being exceeded now, with many plants operating at practical capacity, and the status of most of the principal metals is one of buoyancy. Not every branch of enterprise reveals the same unsatisfactory phases exist, but the main trend is toward expansion.
